FLOOD SITUATION AGAIN DESPERATE

KENTUCKY TOWNS FACE SERIOUS CONDITION FROM WATER.

BREACHES OCCUR IN LEVEES

Boats Are Floated in Hotel Lobby. Stores as Well as Homes Are Deserted.

Paducah, Ky., April 4.—With a foot and a half more water expected before the crest in the present Ohio river flood reaches this point Sunday, Paducah is already hard hit. Business practically is suspended except in one block. Boats float tonight in the lobby of the New Richmond hotel, the floor of which is itself three feet above the street level.

The gauge at 7 o'clock tonight showed a stage of 55.9 feet in the river here, a rise of four-tenths feet in 24 hours. The $10,000 Island Creek bridge which connects Paducah and Meacham, Ky., backed in the center today and is a wreck.

Two hundred extra policemen, in hastily constructed boats, tonight began patrolling the business streets to prevent looting of abandoned stores. The city prisoners were released from their cells, which are half filled with water. The saloons are closed and disorder is minimized.

All train service has been cancelled except that between Memphis and Louisville, but passengers can reach the stations only by means of boats. The population of the refuge camp, back of the city on the hills, was increased by 200 today, but its capacity is by no means taxed.

FEARS AT CAIRO.

Rain Again Increases Uneasiness in Ohio Basin.

Cairo, Ill., April 4.—Conditions throughout the Ohio river basin, as reported to the weather bureau here tonight, indicate that whether the flood waters at this point are to be held within bounds will be known within 24 hours. Certain of these conditions did not favor of encouragement for Cairo. The river crest is two feet above the levee, and the water is rising. The flood only a short distance upstream, rain was reported generally in the territory drained by the Ohio and its tributaries. Farther up the river the Wahash was reported as falling. Both the Cumberland and Tennessee were said to be rising.

In addition, the Mississippi is rising between Cairo and St. Louis. This fact is looked upon as possibly the most serious of all, because the Ohio needs a free outlet to prevent a backing up of waters on the levee here.

Tonight the stage here stood midway between 54.7 and 54.8, or 5-20 of a foot from the top.

A strong wind was blowing from the northwest, and the weather bureau here predicted it would continue. The river now is two miles or more wide at this point and was lashed into waves which washed hard against the reinforcement on the top levee wall.

It was the general opinion here tonight that if tomorrow can be weathered without disastrous results the battle will be won.

LEVEES SPRING LEAKS.

Danger From Flood Increases at Hickman, Ky.

Hickman, Ky., April 4.—Water coming through several breaches in the city levee at West Hickman, which went out today, has inundated that suburb to a depth of from 1 to 2 feet tonight and has spread to the government, or Reelfoot, levee to the west of Hickman. Additional forces, recruited from the workers who had been employed on the city dikes, joined the flood fighters on the Reelfoot levee tonight. No weak points have developed along this stretch, and while the water is lapping the sand bags piled on top of the levee, those directing the fight assert that no immediate danger exists.

The West Hickman embankment collapsed shortly before 1 o'clock today. A gap 20 feet wide was torn in the levee, and to equalize the water's rush openings were cut at several points. When the water came through the side of the gap, the mill of the Menzies box company was swept away and a number of frail structures wrecked.

The property damage in West Hickman is estimated at $100,000. No loss of life occurred, all of the 2000 or more residents having moved to the hills, on which the city of Hickman proper is located.

MISSISSIPPI LEVEES HOLD.

Improved Weather Conditions Permit Repair Work.

Memphis, Tenn., April 4.—Weather conditions favored the workers along the Mississippi river levees today and with what slight damage resulted from the storms of wind and rain last night repaired, all of the main embankments were reported intact tonight and holding well the strain of the rising waters.

The breaking of the city levee at West Hickman, Ky., today is considered of relatively small importance other than damage that will result to manufacturing plants.

At Memphis tonight the stage was 11.5 feet, a rise of six-tenths in twelve hours.

Potatoes Needed.

Indianapolis, April 4.—To aid in the fight against the Indiana flood refugees, Governor Ralston tonight telegraphed to the mayor of Woodburn, Ore., to ship here immediately two car loads of potatoes and one of onions. The Commercial Club of Fruitland, Idaho, was asked to furnish two car loads of potatoes. Railroads have offered to haul free of charge any provisions needed.

2 Tons of Obscene Literature Is Taken in Charge By Police

New York, April 4.—Two tons of obscene books and pictures were seized by special agents of the department of justice in a Thirty-eighth street tenement house.

The raid also resulted in the arrest of Camille Nicholas, charged with being principal agent for a syndicate dealing in obscene literature throughout the south. The government agents said the place had been several years a wholesale depot for the distribution of these books. To evade punishment under the postal laws, the distributors used the express companies, but a recent amendment of the interstate commerce law made them amenable to government interference.

Nicholas, who described himself as an ex-officer in the Italian army, conducted his business, it is said, in a restaurant near the syndicate's warehouse. He was arrested under an indictment already obtained and held in default of $7500 bond.

Man Confessing to Murder Attacked By Those He Implicated

Chicago, April 4.—That Robert Webb, the auto bandit, whose confession implicated a number of his associates was attacked by several of them in the county jail during the exercise hour last Sunday, was disclosed in Judge Kersten's court today.

James Perry, armed with a razor, led the attack, but Webb repulsed him until guards came to his aid. Webb expressed his conviction that his former comrades would "get" him some time. Probably in view of his assistance to the prosecution, he will be sentenced to only 25 years' imprisonment for the murder of Detective Hart.

Curb Military Race Involving Nations, Says German Press

Berlin, April 4.—Discussing the latest race for military expansion in Europe, the Frankfurter Zeitung, in a leading article today, suggests that the time is favorable for the holding of an international conference to evolve a plan for its restriction. The newspaper says:

"No country participating in this rivalry can propose the conference. The United States alone is in a position to discharge this service for the other nations and to secure itself their gratitude. President Wilson's inaugural speech warrants the hope that he will take the initiative, and in doing so he will be supported by the press of his country."

Wife, With Habit of Supporting Husband, Is Pleased By Decree

New York, April 4.—Mrs. May Thorpe, the buyer in a department store, is rejoicing today because she will not have to pay alimony to her husband. Supreme Court Justice Greenbaum granted her petition for a decree of separation and asked her how much alimony she wanted. "I don't think I ought to pay any," she replied. "Can't you put a provision in the decree to keep my husband from demanding money of me? I have been supporting him for so long I've gotten tired of it and I want to be rid of it."

Justice Greenbaum promised to word the decree as she wished.

PROGRESSIVES TO DRAFT PROGRAM

REPRESENTATIVE MURDOCK IS NOMINATED FOR SPEAKER OF HOUSE.

COMMITTEEMEN ARE NAMED

Cheers Follow Remarks Denouncing Both Democratic and Republican Parties—Women Present.

Washington, April 4.—At its first caucus, held this afternoon, the progressives, the third party organization in the house, nominated Representative Murdock of Kansas for speaker of the house and perfected plans for an aggressive campaign. Fifteen members of the house attended the conference, and the affiliation of four members who have not yet reached Washington was announced.

The caucus of conference was held in the majority committee room of the house building, and a crowd of interested spectators, many of them women, attended. A flood of oratory swept through the entire proceedings and the congressmen were accorded abundant applause as they denounced both democratic and republican parties, spoke of "boism" and "standpatism" and lauded progressive principles and Theodore Roosevelt. An expected "keynote message" from Colonel Roosevelt failed to materialize.

The members who attended the conference were: Representatives Ripley, Temple, Hillings, Walters, Lewis and Kelly of Pennsylvania, Bell and Stephenson of California, Murdock of Kansas, Hines, Cough and Cope of Illinois, Bryan of Washington, Lafferty of Oregon, Chandler of New York and Lindbergh of Minnesota. Those recorded, but not present were:

Falconer of Washington, Woodruff of Michigan, Nelson of California and Thomson of Illinois.

The caucus adopted a resolution declaring that its action was not binding upon the members attending, but that each member was free to support or oppose the measures appearing in the house from any source.

After a lengthy discussion, in the course of which Mr. Murdock said the progressives were entitled to representation on the important house committee, not only because of their numerical strength in the house, but also because of the large progressive vote cast for the party in the presidential election, a committee was appointed to consult Majority Leader Underwood about progressive committee assignments. Murdock said he expected thirty or forty committee places for progressives.

A legislative committee composed of Representatives Kelly, Chandler, Cope, Bell and Lindbergh was appointed to frame the legislative measures that will form the progressive program. All of the progressives will meet next Tuesday with Dean Lewis of Pennsylvania university, James Addams, Gifford Pinchot, Walter Reed and other members of the legislative committee of the national progressive party to consider the legislative program.

Representative Lafferty of Oregon attacked the present rules of the house and offered a number of amendments to the rules for consideration of the conference. A committee was appointed to take up the matter. Still another committee was named to consider the complaint of Representative Ryan that the new members were being discriminated against in the assignment of office space.

The conference went on record in favor of the creation of a standing committee of the house to consider the woman suffrage question.

POWERS INSIST ALLIES REPLY TO PEACETERMS

London, April 4.—It having come to the knowledge of the powers that the allies had decided not to deliver their reply to the peace terms drafted by the ambassadors until Saturday, it was decided at today's conference of the ambassadors held at the foreign office to insist that the reply be no longer delayed.

This decision will be now known to the allies through the ministers of the powers stationed in the Balkan capitals. The settlement of the Turko-Bulgarian frontier, which all the parties have agreed shall be drawn in a perfectly straight line from the gulf of Enos to Midia, gives the powers the necessary excuse for hurrying the allies.

Believe Dispute Near End.

St. Petersburg, April 4.—The ambassador conference which has in view the settlement of the dispute between Rumania and Bulgaria, at its second meeting today, examined in detail the memoranda of the plenipotentiaries and disputants but an exchange of views between the ambassadors and established a common ground for ending the controversy.

Despite the mutual opposition of the ending parties, the question will be definitely settled and the decision published simultaneously with the resumption of the peace negotiations between the allies and the powers.

Federals Attack at Naco.

Naco, Ariz., April 4.—General Podro Ojeda, with his 300 federals, late today attacked the line of 600 state troops surrounding Naco, Sonora. For a few minutes just before sunset a hot fight progressed three miles east of Naco. Bullets struck stores in Naco, Arizona, Ojeda failed to cut through but held his position.

New Interstate Commerce Commission

The Interstate Commerce Commission, which must study the accounts and operation of every railroad in the United States which crosses the border of a state, now has before it the largest task yet undertaken. It must place a physical valuation on every one of these roads. The cost is estimated at $5,000,000, for scores of clerks and stenographers must be employed for several years in the work.

The Interstate Commerce Commission is complete again since Woodrow Wilson became president. He renominated Edgar L. Clark, the chairman, and the senate quickly confirmed. Then he named John H. Marble, secretary of the commission for the place made vacant when Franklin K. Lane was chosen for the cabinet. The members of the commission from left to right are: Balthazar H. Meyer, James S. Harlan, Judson C. Clements, Chairman Clark, Charles A. Prouty, C. C. McChord and John H. Marble.

JAPAN PROTESTS TO U. S. ABOUT ALIEN MEASURE

Washington, April 4.—The Japanese government has lodged formal protest with the state department against the proposed enactment by the state of California of what it characterizes as anti-Japanese legislation, the measure prohibiting the alien ownership of land in California.

It was learned today that this protest was made nearly a fortnight ago. Secretary Bryan and Viscount Chinda, the Japanese ambassador, were closeted for a half hour today at the state department in a private conference, the subject of which neither would discuss.

It is known that Secretary Bryan is giving close attention to this delicate subject, studying carefully the history of the negotiations that took place between Secretary Root and Baron Takahira in the Roosevelt administration, when a severe strain was placed upon the relations between America and Japan by the attempt of the California legislature to exclude Japanese from the public schools.

The next step may be a communication from the secretary of state to the governor of California calling his attention to the international question involved in the proposed actions of the legislature.

TRAIN RUNS INTO LANDSLIDE; ONE PERSON IS KILLED

Marshall, April 4.—A landslide that buried the rails of the Texas & Pacific railroad, four miles east of Provencher, La., just before daylight today, following heavy rains, overturned part of the train and killed Fireman Lanier. Two other train employees were slightly injured. The engine, mail and baggage cars turned over.

It is reported that the Texas & Pacific tracks were washed out in fifteen places by a heavy rainstorm about twenty-five miles wide which swept over Northern Louisiana early this morning. Much damage to private property was reported.

OHIO'S DEATH LIST IS 460

Red Cross Agent Makes Report of Conditions Due to Recent Floods.

Washington, April 4.—Ohio's loss in the recent flood was estimated tonight in a telegram from the American Red Cross agent in charge of Columbus as follows:

Four hundred and sixty lives lost. Forty-two hundred homes destroyed. Forty thousand and five persons homeless.

Nine thousand families outside of Dayton, Columbus and Cincinnati in need of rehabilitation.

It has been extremely difficult to get information, according to the agent, because wires are still down and transportation facilities uncertain.

Emergency relief situation in each flooded district in Ohio being well covered," the telegram said. Dayton, Columbus, Piqua, Troy, Ottawa, Sidney, Hamilton, Miamisburg, Middletown and Zanesville are covered by Red Cross representatives. In these places information is being rapidly accumulated on which to base rehabilitation.

Colonel Miller, chief quartermaster, reports need of underwear of all sorts, bedding and blankets.

Morton Continues to Improve.

New York, April 4.—A decided change for the better in the condition of Lord P. Morton, former vice president of the United States, was announced this afternoon by Dr. Herman Riggs, the attending physician. A steady improvement in Mr. Morton's condition, Dr. Riggs said, is now expected.

ACCUSED ENACTS RULE OF SLAYER

PROFESSOR ON TRIAL FOR MURDER IS DRAMATIC ON STAND.

WIFE TOO GIVES TESTIMONY

Mrs. Lillian Olson Alleges Dead Man Had Superhuman Power Over Her.

St. Paul, Minn., April 4.—With quivering and uncertain voice, Mrs. Lillian Olson, wife of Prof. Oscar Olson, took the witness stand today and admitted having had illicit relations with Clyde N. Darling, for whose murder Olson is on trial.

"I told Darling that I was not a bad woman and begged him to discontinue his visits to our home, but he persisted in coming, and when he pressed me closely in his arms I could not resist," Mrs. Olson testified.

Finally her answers to questions became so low that they could not be heard by the jury and she swayed as if on the verge of collapse. Then an adjournment was taken.

The wife rested in cross examination of Prof. Olson at 5 o'clock this afternoon, but he may be recalled. The defendant repeated details of their home life and told of the pain both he and Mrs. Olson had suffered because of her relations with Darling.

When asked by County Attorney O'Brien to give an exact statement of his wife's confession to him, which preceded the shooting of Darling, Olson's voice failed him, but he soon recovered it and continued:

"My wife said: 'Darling has a superhuman power over me. I cannot resist him. He takes me in his arms and looking into my eyes he tells me he loves me and hypnotizes me. I am afraid of him. Please keep him from me.'"

Before finishing his testimony Prof. Olson enacted his part of the tragedy. Grasping the same revolver with which he killed Darling and fairly shaking with emotion, Olson trained the weapon upon one of the jurors and stepped slowly forward. He hesitated a moment, then quickly retreated and pulled the trigger of the empty weapon. The defense has contended that the latter tried to save himself.

The strain of eight hours on the stand and the night cross examination to which he was subjected had a telling effect upon the defendant and he leaned heavily on the arm of his attorney when leaving the court room.

CONVICT FORMER CONGRESSMAN

St. Louis, April 4.—Harry M. Coudrey, former congressman, and Harry B. Gardner were found guilty in the federal district court late this afternoon of using the mails to defraud.

Coudrey and Gardner were charged with using the mails to defraud in the promotion of what came to be known as the twin insurance company—the Continental Life Insurance company of America and the International Fire Assurance company of America. Both companies went into the hands of a receiver.

Coudrey represented the twelfth Missouri district in congress in 1909-1911. Recently he had been living in New York City.

Woman Burns Self to Death.
Lakewood, N. J., April 4.—Rather than be taken to an asylum, where it had been decided she should be sent for a time as the consequence of a recent illness, Mrs. George C. McKins, wife of a prosperous farmer at Lakewood, near here, burned herself to death in her home yesterday by pouring kerosene over her clothing and touching a match to the oil-soaked garments. Her husband, rushing into the room, dashed water over her and wrapped her in a blanket. She died after gasping out the explanation for her act.

Two Negroes Hanged.

Moundsville, W. Va., April 4.—James Williams and John Marshall, negroes, each convicted of murder in McDowell county, were hanged late today in the state penitentiary here.

LOONEY'S RULING ON 9:30 CLOSING EXPECTED TODAY

Austin, Tex., April 4.—It is expected that Attorney General Looney will hand out an opinion tomorrow morning on the nine-thirty closing law bill. The bill was turned into the department by Governor Colquitt, who opposed signing it because of the provision that made it necessary for license holders, in order to obtain a renewal, to make oath that they had not kept open later than midnight or opened earlier than 6 o'clock in the morning since 1909.

The state law makes the hours for opening and closing the saloons 5 o'clock and midnight. That it would be impossible for any license holder to renew his license.

A further discrepancy in the bill was discovered today. The caption and first section makes the hours midnight to 5 o'clock and the section relative to closing over Sunday makes the hours from midnight Saturday night until 6:30 Monday morning. The bill therefore mentions two different times.

It is expected that the opinion of the attorney general on this source will be that the provision exists only as an assurance that the law had been obeyed. The form of the provision states "substantially" not specifically. The governor probably will sign if the holding of this nature is given.

SERIOUS RIOTS MARK STRIKE OF TWINE WORKERS

Auburn, N. Y., April 4.—State troops are on guard tonight over plants affected by the twine workers' strike. Serious riots occurred today during which the police poured a volley into the mob, seriously wounding four persons, one woman.

A conference of strike leaders and employers had to be deferred because William C. Rogers, state mediator, whose presence was desired, could not reach here in time from Albany. He will be here tomorrow.

Tonight after troops had been placed in the neighborhood of the Columbia mills, rioting was renewed at the Harvester plant. A detachment of militia was rushed to the scene and quiet was restored.

Maria Saveria Pulisio, the woman whose arrest caused the rioting this morning when four were shot, was arraigned late today on a charge of disorderly conduct. She asked for a continuance, which was granted, and she was released on $500 bail for examination Monday.

The police reported they found in her possession two pouches filled with what appeared to be salt. A chemical analysis is being made, as it is claimed by the police that some corrosive liquid had been poured into the salt which burned rubber coats and uniforms.

Managers of the Columbia Rope company decided that they would not continue the strike. About 1,700 men are on strike.

MORGAN FUNERAL APRIL 14

Services Probably Will Be Held in New York on That Date.

New York, April 4.—Monday, April 14, probably will be set aside for the funeral of J. P. Morgan, who here over the body of J. P. Morgan. The exact date had not been determined today and will depend upon the time of the arrival of the liner from France, which is bringing the financier's body from Havre.

The services will be held at St. George's Episcopal church and the interment will be at Hartford, Conn., the same day.

Suffragette Gets Prison Sentence.

London, April 4.—Miss Olive Hickin, a militant suffragette, was found guilty of conspiracy at the Old Bailey sessions today in connection with an attempt to burn a pavilion on the Reckhampton golf links. She was sentenced to four months in prison.

TARIFF BILL IS COMPLETE

FINAL DECISION ON SUGAR IS THE ONLY ITEM NOW LACKING.

REVISION DOWNWARD

WOOL, MEATS, FOODSTUFFS AND CLOTHING FREE.

WILSON MODELS ENTIRE LIST

President Hopeful That All Differences Will Be Eliminated When Measure Is Offered.

Washington, April 4.—The Democratic tariff revision bill is complete tonight with the exception of a final decision upon sugar. From beginning to end, it is modeled in accord with ideas of President Wilson, with wool, meats and many other foodstuffs and clothing materials on the free list, low duties upon all agricultural products and foodstuffs that are not free, and with the tariff on chemicals, steel and other commercial products cut far below the present protective rates.

Senate tariff leaders today asked for an opportunity to study the bill until Saturday afternoon. They then will confer with Chairman Underwood of the house committee on ways and means, and later will have a final conference with President Wilson. A careful analysis of the senate bill as made in the meantime to determine whether free wool, one cent sugar and low rates on "market basket" products will prove acceptable to a majority of the Democrats.

Briefly summarized, the tariff devaluation of the day were:

President Wilson's ultimatum to sugar interests that they must agree to a tariff of one cent per pound for three years, with free sugar after that time, or he would attempt to provide for free sugar at once.

Completion of the bill by the ways and means committee with the exception of the sugar schedule. On this the committee is prepared to agree on free sugar if the president insists.

Income Tax Rates Known.

Income tax rates fixed at one per cent for all corporation incomes above $5,000; one per cent on personal incomes from $4,000 to $50,000; two per cent from $50,000 to $100,000; three per cent from $100,000 to $200,000; four per cent above $200,000.

The president submitted his proposal on the sugar tariff to Representative Broussard, senator-elect from Louisiana, earlier in the day. Louisiana senators and representatives conferred throughout the day and reached no decision tonight, however, as to the course to take.

Notwithstanding the sugar controversy, experts think it is almost certain that the president will come to definite and final agreement upon the tariff bill before Monday and that the measure will be presented to the public early next week, with an administration measure and with all tariff leaders behind it.

Many Conferences.

After a short meeting of Democratic members of the finance committee today, Senators Simmons, James and Hughes called on Underwood and discussed the wool, sugar and agricultural tariffs. A demand from some quarters in the senate for an increase in agricultural duties, and a doubt as to the success of both free wool and free sugar in the senate, constitute the problem over which senate leaders will work tonight and tomorrow.

The house tariff makers have left matters entirely in the hands of the president. Members of the senate finance committee today declared there would be an ultimate agreement with the president on all contested points. It is understood that unless the sugar compromise is accepted by senators from southern states, the finance committee will act on its own initiative and comply with President Wilson's desires.

The situation as it has developed this week apparently is a consummation of the plan laid out by the president. Members of the senate finance committee today declared there would be an ultimate agreement with the president on all contested points. It is understood that unless the sugar compromise is accepted by senators from southern states, the finance committee will act on its own initiative and comply with President Wilson's desires.

The situation, unique in tariff history of recent years, is expected to greatly shorten the time required for passage of the bill, and to reduce to an unusual degree the congressional debate and amendment of the measure. A preliminary agreement on the bill, it is claimed, will result in the making of few changes by the senate when the bill reaches that body.

Underwood Relieved.

Chairman Underwood, when the ways and means committee adjourned for the day, seemed in a greatly relieved frame of mind and expressed the hope that the committee would hear from the president and the senate committee by Sunday at the latest.

"Our bill is ready," said Mr. Underwood. "The sugar tariff is the only serious point in controversy and our committee has agreed to do whatever the president wants us to do."

"We expected to go down from the president today for his conference with the senators, but the word did not come. I believe, however, that the whole matter will be determined tomorrow.

"If the president cannot bring about an agreement on this schedule, we are ready anyway and the bill will go to the house as a committee bill."

"This committee has agreed to see that every change the president suggested in our original bill as it reached him. His suggestions were few. Most of the bill met with his hearty approval. The committee was of the mind that no bill should be presented which the president might veto when it reached him. Having made the changes he suggested, we are now ready to accede to the further recommendations he may make."

Because of the delay in settling the sugar schedule, the committee may not be ready to introduce the bill Monday. Chairman Underwood assured the president he could have all the time necessary to bring about an agreement with the senate leaders.

The ways and means committee chairman declared every member of the committee was co-operating with the president to bring about harmony. All agreed that the points of serious difference should be settled, by compromise, if necessary, before the bill is sent into the legislative mill, rather than afterward, when such compromise might arise to prolong debate and drag the session along for months.

A provision of the measure is that it shall become effective on midnight of the day on which it is signed by the president. This provision and the fact that the measure will be a blanket bill including the income tax when it comes from the committee strengthens the probability that it will be considered in congress as one measure, instead of being taken up by schedule by schedule. This method, it is said, will almost certainly follow if there is an agreement between the president and senate and house leaders as to rates.

WILSON CONFERS WITH CABINET
President Hopeful of Dodging Any Tariff Dispute.

Washington, April 4.—President Wilson gave his cabinet today an outline of the negotiations through which he hoped to secure a common agreement on the tariff bill. Later members of the cabinet expressed themselves in hearty accord with the president's views on the tariff, declaring that the president was determined to have the United States get free sugar in three years.

The president was hopeful tonight he would have the support of the Louisiana senators on the 1-cent sugar proposal and that when the bill was introduced next week it would go through both houses of congress smoothly, thereby giving an opportunity for other important legislation.

RED CROSS EAGER TO AID SUFFERERS

WORK ACCOMPLISHED AT THE STRICKEN DISTRICTS SUBJECT OF REPORT.

PROBLEM IS A SERIOUS ONE

Society Endorses Aiding Individuals to Do Greatest Good to Entire Community.

Washington, April 4.—How the American Red Cross has undertaken the rehabilitation of home and business life in the flood stricken districts of the middle west, and in what manner that organization met the first call for relief from the sufferers in this district—probably the greatest with which it ever has been called upon to deal, were described in a comprehensive statement issued tonight by Miss Mabel Boardman, chairman of the Red Cross National Relief committee.

Rehabilitation of the individual sufferer, declared Miss Boardman, is what is necessary to restore normal conditions. "To continue merely to give out food and clothing," she said, "will mean the continuation of the paralysis of the all-important business life of the community. In many of the flooded districts the merchants have lost all their stock and have no insurance, as in case of fire. Unless an effort is made to aid them to make a start again; unless the people are assisted in such a way as to enable them to resume the normal condition of living, the business of the community will remain in a hopeless condition. To accomplish this, the individual must be considered, and his or her rehabilitation will mean that of the whole city, town or village."

"While factories are closed for repairs, men can be given work for which they will be paid for the clearing away of the immense amount of debris, such clearing being necessary for sanitary and other reasons. Thus purchasing powers will be given them again. They may be aided in the repair of their houses and thus employment provided for others."

"The re-establishment of his market will enable the merchant to re-employ his staff and thus again add to the return to a normal existence. Where men and women have been paying for their homes by monthly installments they can be assisted in such payments for a time so as to prevent the loss of their homes and possibly the failure of mutual building associations which would be disastrous to many of the working people. All this great work the Red Cross, with the generous contributions of the American people, is undertaking."

"This work of individual rehabilitation will lead to the rehabilitation of the entire community and the settling again in motion of the wheels of life, will be the greatest help that can possibly be given to the unfortunate victims of the flood. So many thousands have suffered, so many cities, towns and villages in Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky and Illinois have been affected that there will be need of all the generous contributions received."

"With the courage of the American people on the one side of the disaster and on the other the generosity of our sympathetic public, the Red Cross believes this can and will be accomplished."

BILL TO AID SUFFERERS.

Senator Burton Would Provide Fund Through Government.

Piqua, O., April 4.—After a talk with Governor Cox here today, United States Senator Theodore Burton announced that within the next thirty days he probably will introduce a measure in congress looking towards flood prevention in every section of the United States. Senator Burton stated that he would not introduce such a measure unless he finds that it is the policy of the Wilson administration to give federal aid to such propositions. He also stated that should it be found that the condition of the flood sufferers in the state is worse than first believed, congress would be asked for an emergency appropriation.

MAJOR NORMOYLE REPORTS.

Believes Flood Situation is Well in Hand.

Washington, April 4.—Major Normoyle, at the head of an army relief force in the flooded district, reported today that he was confident that he had the situation well in hand. Answering a query concerning the possibility of starvation in Marietta, Ohio, the officer responded: "I will feed them with a spoon if necessary."

"Surgeon Evans reported to Surgeon General Stokes from Cincinnati that all stricken towns now have competent medical men and sufficient supplies."

TRUE PHILOSOPHY OF SAN ANTONIO LADY

If She Had Known Years Ago What She Does Now About Plant Juice.

"If we could only know what was good for us and what would help us, how much needless suffering we might escape. For many years I have had indigestion, stomach and kidney troubles, and only a few weeks ago I learned what would not only help me, but what would cure me. Had I known of Plant Juice ten years ago, just think of the suffering and pain I would have escaped. Plant Juice is a good and true remedy that does all that is claimed for it, and every sick person should at least try it. I know many of them would be cured by it."

There is much philosophy in the observation of Mrs. Holmes. Thousands of Texas people have found new health and happiness in Plant Juice, just as she has. Many will wish, too, that they had known of it sooner, and thereby have been spared much suffering. Plant Juice is the world's greatest tonic and curative for all derangements of the stomach, liver, kidneys and blood; it brings new health, vigor and energy in an almost marvellous manner. Ask about it at the Old Corner Drug Store.

WOMEN TO VISIT WILSON.

Committee to Confer in Interest of Suffrage Movement.

Tacoma, Wash., April 4.—Mrs. Emma Smith Devoe, president of the National Council of Women voters, announced today the appointment of a committee of voting women from the states in which they are enfranchised to call upon President Wilson Monday in the interest of the women of those states which have not been granted equal suffrage.

The committee is composed of Dr. Smith King of Tacoma, Mrs. Anna M. Pitzer of Colorado, Mrs. Charles Norton, sister of Senator Poinsett, of Washington; Mrs. Dubois, wife of former Senator Dubois, of Idaho; Mrs. John E. Baker of California, and Mrs. Frank Mondell of Wyoming.

The committee will confer with the president in regard to the proposed amendment to the federal constitution to extend the vote on national affairs to all the women of the union.

2200 TELEPHONE GIRLS STRIKE.

Boston in Danger of Losing Service Temporarily.

Boston, April 4.—A strike of 2200 telephone operators of the New England Telephone and Telegraph company's Metropolitan system is threatened. Members of the Boston Telephone operators' union voted tonight to break off negotiations with the company in connection with demands for increased wages and a readjustment of hours.

A vote of the question of striking was ordered to be taken Monday. Previous votes on the matter have been almost unanimous in favor of going out.

The operators' union officials say that should the girls decide to stop answering calls they would be joined by the linemen, installers and other electrical workers in the district. Such a strike would tie up fifty-two exchanges in this city and its suburbs.

GERMAN AVIATORS AT HOME.

Dirigible's Return Causes Germans' Pleasure.

Berlin, April 4.—The reported arrival of the dirigible Zeppelin IV at Metz with military committee members of which were held by the French authorities at Lunenburg when the Zeppelin IV landed there yesterday, is hailed by the newspapers here this morning with the greatest satisfaction. The conduct of the French government is highly praised by the newspapers here, even the Chauvinist organs joining in expressions of appreciation of the hospitable treatment of the German officers and the promptness with which the French investigation into the incident was concluded.

FORMER COUNCILMAN FINED.

Sentence Recalls "Concrete" Board

Waco, La., April 4.—Former Councilman James W. Lane and Wm. Malla of Atlantic City, who pleaded guilty to conspiracy in connection with the "concrete" board walk fraud exposed some time ago, were fined $500 each today by Justice Kalisch of the supreme court.

Louis Kuehnle, a political leader of Atlantic City, who is under sentence of one year in prison in connection with a water pipe contract will be placed on trial April 22 on a charge of having committed an election fraud.

Kohler to Get Small Pension.

Cleveland, O., April 4.—In reply to an inquiry from the police pension board, the Solicitor General stated today that ex-Police Chief Fred Kohler, recently removed on charges of gross immorality, could not legally be granted a full pension of $125 a month. At the civil service commission's recommendation, friends of Kohler on the board had tried to obtain for him a full pension in view of the quality of his service, although he had not served the full twenty-five years. Kohler's pension for which he has not yet applied, will be only $62.50 a month.

Vanderbilts Aid Y. M. C. A.

New York, April 4.—Through gifts of $100,000 each by W. K. Vanderbilt and Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt, the railroad branch of the Young Men's Christian Association is to be provided with a new and completely furnished home. Besides these gifts announced tonight, the present building of the branch is to be taken over by the New York Central and New York, New Haven & Hartford railroads for $100,000. The new building, with its furnishings, will cost more than $500,000.

Mrs. Pankhurst on Hunger Strike.

London, April 4.—Mrs. Pankhurst has carried out her threat to go on a hunger strike. The last meal she took was luncheon before she was imposed upon her yesterday. Since she entered Holloway jail she has conformed to all its rules except that she refuses food. Mrs. Pankhurst reported to the women's penal establishment at Aylesbury, where any steps are considered necessary to feed her will be taken.

TAFT'S CREATION TO CONTINUE

Wilson Favors Efficiency and Economy Commission Organized By the Former President.

Washington April 4.—The efficiency and economy commission created by President Taft will be continued under the Wilson administration. Mr. Wilson had a conference tonight with F. A. Cleveland, head of the commission, Louis D. Brandeis of Boston, John P. Mitchell and Dr. Henry Bruere of New York, and manifested deep interest in the idea of the modern, businesslike plan for handling the affairs of the national government.

The commission exists through a provision in the Taft civil bill and a recommendation for its continuation is expected during the coming session of congress.

Mr. Wilson had a similar commission in New Jersey when he was governor.

The same visitors talked with the president about the budget system and the government of the city of Washington. The president always has favored a budget system and there is every likelihood that the economy commission will be asked to prepare a comprehensive basis for budget legislation. Mr. Mitchell and Dr. Bruere brought a memorandum on establishing a model government for the city of Washington. The president indicated a deep interest in the proposals.

MIMIC WAR IN TEXAS.

Soldiers at Texas City and Galveston Take Part.

Galveston, April 4.—An extensive maneuver problem was solved today by the sixth brigade under command of Brigadier General Clarence R. Edwards, the brigade being composed of one battery of mountain artillery and a squadron of cavalry. The problem was one of attack on an enemy holding the town of Lamarque.

The enemy was represented by one battalion of infantry, two companies of engineers, one troop of cavalry and a squadron of mountain artillery under command of Lieutenant Colonel Henry D. Styer of the seventeenth infantry. About 3,500 men participated in the maneuvers, haversack rations being carried and the entire day spent in the mimic war game. This is the most extensive maneuver by the soldiers of the second division of the United States army, mobilized at Texas City and Galveston, undertaken to date.

WOULD GIVE STATE RAILROAD.

President Chamberlain of Grand Trunk Makes Offer.

Providence, R. I., April 4.—President Chamberlain of the Grand Trunk railway, in a letter received by Governor Pothier today, offers to turn over to the state of Rhode Island the Southern New England railroad as an inducement to the state to complete the road and operate it in one of two ways, as follows:

"First, if the state desires to operate the railroad, we will grant running rights on reasonable terms over our lines to make the line sufficiently long to constitute an operating division of through rates on a mileage basis."

"Second, we will lease the state-owned railroad for a rental equivalent to 5 per cent interest on the actual cost to the state of completing the whole line."

Mr. Chamberlain says nearly $2,500,000 already has been expended on the line.

NOISY BUYERS SILENCED.

Curb Market to Punish Violators, is New Rule.

New York, April 4.—The curb market joined the stock exchange today in an effort to make its sessions more orderly and incidentally of less interest to outside spectators. The average energetic young men who buy and sell stocks in the middle of Broad street with hoarse yells and cryptic gestures were told that hereafter such skylarking would be punished by fines ranging from $10 to $25 and that persistent offenders would be expelled from the stock exchange.

Two energetic young men who were fined yesterday for disorderly conduct on April 1.

116 Indictments Returned.

Chicago, April 4.—Investigation of Chicago's "arson trust" was completed today by the special grand jury. One hundred and sixteen indictments were voted and evidence in connection with thirty fires was presented. The names of those indicted will be kept secret until there is no longer a chance for them to escape the serving of capias.

Complaints of Car Service.

Mr. Lambdin last night said that the street car service on the Belt Line was inadequate to handle the large crowd that attended Mrs. Philip Snowden's lecture in Carroll Chapel at Baylor. "Only one car was provided and there were some 500 persons to be taken care of," he said.

London, April 4.—The engagement is announced of Edward Hamilton McCormick of Chicago to Phyllis Mary, second daughter of Sir Francis Samuelson, chairman of B. Samuelson & Co., Limited, iron masters.

The Homeless and Hungry.

(St. Louis Post-Dispatch.)

A young girl told of a father, 65 years old, who had labored for forty years and had just completed the payments on a small home, which was in ruins. Omaha Telegram.

It is the larger phases of great catastrophes du which the press descriptions dwell. Details like this do not often get into the accounts the public reads. Probably there are in Omaha numbers of cases similar to that of this 65-year-old man. Probably his situation is duplicated hundreds of times in the flood stricken region. The effect of the calamity on such men is as permanent as though they had received physical disability. Earnings representing the lifetime industry of thousands of elderly men have been swept away.

After the tension and excitement of present days have passed away, there will remain to them adult years during which the comfort and leisure which their savings might have provided, will be denied them. Their losses cannot be made up to them. Their present distress, however, can be relieved. They can be encouraged by aid and sympathy and prepared for resuming battle after normal conditions have been restored.

And if the appeal of those losses that are only material is strong, how much stronger is that of those left dependent by the death of breadwinners, of those who, in addition to losing their savings, may also have lost dear ones and incurred lasting injury and ill health?

Firemen's Attorneys Start Summing Up of Testimony—Decision Due April 23.

New York, April 4.—The last witnesses were called today before the arbitration board that settles under the Erdman act the demands of the 34,000 firemen of the fifty-four eastern railroads for better pay and working conditions.

W. S. Carter, head of the firemen's brotherhood, began summing up this afternoon. Elisha Lee, chairman of the conference committee of managers, who will argue for the railroads, will conclude the summing up tomorrow night. Both sides will have three days in which to submit briefs. Under this plan the board expects to begin its deliberations next Wednesday. Two weeks later, on April 23, the board must render its decision.

A resumé of arbitration as affecting past disputes between labor and railroads was given by Mr. Carter, who declared the Erdman act should be amended so as to eliminate strikes in wage controversies.

The firemen's wages should be based on the relative weight of driving wheels of different types of locomotives, Mr. Carter urged. Uniformity of wages, he declared, would make for clean cut, healthy rivalry among roads, instead of "cut throat competition."

Mr. Carter took up the plea of financial inability of some of the roads to meet the demands. Some roads which are poorer than the eastern roads making this plea, he said, are paying much better wages than are the eastern roads.

CLAIMS JUDGE DISQUALIFIED.

New York, April 4.—Argument that Judge Ward, of the United States circuit court of appeals, is disqualified to sit in demurrer proceedings filed a year ago by the so-called tobacco trust against a review of the court decree dissolving it, brought about a postponement of the case today, until April 18. Attorneys for the "trust," it is declared, will attempt to defer argument until they succeed in having it before some circuit judge who did not sign the decree of dissolution, and this may take until June, to make a joint case, drawn up by the American Tobacco company and the United Cigar Stores company, in reply to an action brought by Otto S. Jones, a tobacco dealer, who alleged that in consequence of trade favors granted by the United Cigar Stores company to the American Tobacco company, he was damaged to the extent of $100,000.

STRIKE GROWS WORSE.

Clergymen Who Would Bring Settlement Unsuccessful.

Patterson, N. J., April 4.—Arthur Giovannitti today addressed striking silk weavers at a meeting held by the Industrial Workers of the World. Clergymen who attempted to bring about an adjustment of the dispute have withdrawn their offices and an early settlement of the strike appears doubtful.

Wm. D. Haywood and Adolph Leasing, organizers for the I. W. W., will appear in court tomorrow in their fight to have their sentences of six months each set aside. Sheriff Radcliff tonight secured in extra deputies to guard against disorder when Haywood and Leasing are arraigned.

Political Differences in Switzerland.

Berne, April 4.—A grave political situation which is driving the people of Switzerland has developed again as the result of the ratification today by the national council for the St. Gothard Railway convention of 1909, by which the last of the principal lines of Switzerland became the property of Swiss confederations. The vote was 108 to 77.

THE BACHELOR MAIDS MEET WITH MISS LYDA CLINTON

The last meeting of the Bachelor Maids was quite a pleasant game, with quite a pleasant hostess in Miss Lyda Clinton. The Misses Roberta Early, Rowena Sturgis and Louise Baker were greeted as new members of the club. There is still one vacancy to fill. The next game will be played with Miss Cleonora Blair. Miss Clinton embroidered two fancy guest towels for her first prize and they were won by Miss Margaret Westbrook. The other guests were the Mesdames Harlowe, Mrs. Harold Shear, with the Mesdames Lambdin of Georgia, Shaffer of San Antonio and Enrique Smith.

THE LITERARY CLUB MEETS WITH MRS. WILLIAM SLEEPER

The sessions of the Literary club are now largely consumed with the business features necessary to the election of a new roster of officers and the preparation of a new course of study, all of which must be incorporated into the year book to be printed and distributed before early May adjournment. The hostess for Thursday was Mrs. William Sleeper, and she had the pleasure of greeting quite a full attendance from the members. The Mesdames W. S. Plunkett, E. R. Nash, Jr., and M. R. Willis, were the contributors to the program on Charles Dickens. When the final returns were made it was found that a nice little balance was ready for the Bertha Kunz Baker check.

THE PROGRESSIVE BRIDGE MEETS WITH MISS STRAUSS

When the members of the Progressive Bridge club assembled with Miss Cecile Strauss it was found that several out-of-town guests were to be greeted, as well as one or two whom Miss Strauss had with her by special invitation. In the passage of the game, the fast game fell to Miss Rosalie Hirschberg, as the club member, her award being a sterling silver vanity box. Among the guests fortune favored Mrs. Maurice Landman, whose trophy were two deposit perfume bottles. The second prize fell to Mrs. Nathan Cinnamon. The guests of this game were the Misses Leta May Sanger, Dreyfus of Galveston, Bessie Roscoe of Chicago, Rena Gassenheimer, Ray Richmond, with the Mesdames Uhlman and Dan Wise.

MISS ALZADA KNICKERBOCKER HAS EVENING GUESTS

In recognition of her birthday as well as for the special pleasure of her two house guests, the Misses Estelle Lively of Canton and Madeline Thompson of New Orleans, Miss Alzada Knickerbocker called in a few friends for Thursday evening. The provision for pleasure was such that jollity reigned fast and furious. Miss Mary Moore of Tennessee was added to the quartet of girls while the young men, who joined the circle by invitation were Walter Reese, Cleon Poole, Charles Davis and Paul Ratliffe. The chafing dish was placed at the side of a table fragrant with the pink carnation cluster. There was also with the ingredients for a chafing dish course from sandwich to sweet. By couples each was to prepare the dishes, and some well, some simply could not. Mrs. Knickerbocker not having all the confidence in the world in her cooks, had in waiting the real supper, so Miss Knickerbocker's birthday feast was not wanting. Impromptu parlor music was another feature in the enjoyment.

MISS ELLA FLEWELLYN ENTERTAINS AT BRIDGE

The first invitations of Miss Ella Flewellyn were for a Country Club outing, but the early morning storm caused a transfer to the Provident Heights home. In entertaining, Miss Flewellyn was paying courtesy to her social club, the Beau Nots, to her bridge circle and to several personal friends. All joined in the bridge feature except the few who are not yet devotees. The three prizes were, for the Best Hand awarded to Miss Lucile Mayfield and for the bridge club to Miss Mary Carter. Miss Lucile Lewis took the consolation. Miss Flewellyn's refreshments found a salad plate, with an ice and other dainties. The guest list included: Mildred Smith, Marie Beaumont, Hazel Spencer, Lucile Lewis, Fay Clinton, Katherine Lattimore, Celia Moore, Mary Carter, Alice Brazelton, Mable Turner, Elsie Forrester, Lucy Lazenby, Grace Cox, J. Marie Lazenby, Mary Lou Hubby, Roberta Rogers, Vashil Hubby, Alta Harrison, Lucile Mayfield, Pauline McLendon, Sallie Thompson, Thelma Ashburn, Mary Shelton and Edwina Sturgis.

MRS. EDWARD LAUGHLIN HAS MAIDS AND MATRONS

Two extra tables were called into requisition for the game of the Maids and Matrons where Mrs. Edward Laughlin was the hostess. This club continues to play five hundred, and some exciting hands are held. Mrs. Laughlin, expert as she is with her needle, always provides some bit of fancy work for her prizes. For this game she presented for the leading score in the club a crocheted towel to Mrs. J. W. Whitworth, the same to Mrs. Sam Stratton and for the consolation cut an embroidered evening bag to Mrs. W. J. Lincoln for the leading guest score. The next hostess will be Mrs. William Carroll. As special guests of the afternoon Mrs. Laughlin had Miss Eddie May Riggins with the Mesdames Charles Hamilton, W. L. Geer, Warren Moore of Austin, C. M. Chislee, W. J. Lincoln, Ludwell Williams, Jones Smith, Sam Stratton, Will Kelley, Charles W. Wilson, J. M. Cutchan, J. J. Fowers and Ralph Turner.

LUNCHEON WITH MRS. MOORE FOR MRS. J. P. McELROY

Some one remarked not long since that nothing new could ever be said concerning a luncheon, that no matter how dainty and how tasteful it was yet the same thing which the other hostess had just given. But Mrs. Bart Moore in her compliment to Mrs. J. P. McElroy refuted this. On her table, which was set with the Easter white and green, Mrs. Moore had three baskets of the valley lilies which she herself had raised. So this is indeed the something new for a Texas table. Following this daintiness, for the valley lilies are even adorable, the place cards had the same spray brushed. About the luncheon room were baskets of beautiful hothouse blooms with which the honoree and her hostess had remembered Mrs. Moore. The courses were in keeping with spring delicacies. The guests for this charming little coming together were the Mesdames McElroy, H. K. Brewer, Pearl Walker Yates, Ludwell Williams, Frank Forman, O. L. Strubling, W. O. Wilkes, Layton Puckett, James Williamson, Pio Crespi and S. E. Stratton.

Society Notes.

Among changes in residence within the coming week, Mrs. O. K. Steiner becomes matron of recently purchased home on Bosque Boulevard, near Fifteenth.

Unexpected business has detained the departure of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Pape for Europe. In the meantime, Mrs. Pape continues the guest home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Jurney, on North Tenth.

Mrs. Mollie Burnham Neal is expected from Navasota on Monday. She will be the guest of Miss Jimmie Riggins and other relatives. In compliment to Mrs. Neal, Mrs. William Carroll has bespoken the Maids and Matrons for their Thursday game and will add several tables from among the special friends of Mrs. Neal.

Mrs. Keith Watson Matthews, who has spent the winter in Colorado, writes that she may be expected here by her home friends with June.

Aviator Jones, telling of his night flight over New York, described the scene below as "an inverted sky full of pyrotechnics." The pyrotechnics are there, alright; but if a virtuous press is to be believed most of the pyrotechnics are of the sort to be found in quite a different direction than the sky.

The proposition to drain chartered clubs of aqua vitae and spits, finally having sunk into oblivion it is gratifying to reflect that social relaxation in those saloonless Texas cities whose legislators considered there as illogical lengths to which even prohibition may run, will not be interfered with.

WORSE CONFOUNDED.

It really doesn't matter much, for the Thirty-third regular session of our Austin assembly has passed into quasi-history and we're all trying to forget it, but it is always well to give public men their due whether one is called on to give it or not. So, when the Galveston News in its spot-mortem of Thursday attributes Mr. Colquitt's reply to the paeon Mr. Speaker Terrell, to spleen stirred by the speaker "in not having boasted those measures which the governor solely wanted to the exclusion, or at least, the obstruction of those measures which members of the house wanted, but concerning which the governor was indifferent if not hostile," we take issue with the Galveston News on a point of possible private history, at least. The governor's comment on the speakers' plaudits of the session and flagellation of himself for his "Good Friday message" was that he had "known for thirty days that the speaker was unfriendly to the administration, notwithstanding his previous profession of friendship." Perhaps we should not have said a "point" of private history, for there has merely come to our ear, as to the ear of many others who have watched the performance at Austin, sundry rumors to the effect that Mr. Terrell in January may not have taken the chair any too enthusiastically a supporter of the administration. We ourselves recall that the governor refused, as was proper, to take any part in the rather muddled campaign for the speakership, what time Mr. Terrell was the only "anti" candidate with any chance of success, and a coalition of the pros in favor of one of their number seemed imminent. The pros had a little split, and Mr. Terrell profited thereby to a degree, but we doubt if this circumstance made him feel kinder toward the indifferent Mr. Colquitt. Certainly the governor realized it made little difference, insofar as concerned actual legislation, whether a pro or an anti was presiding, for the pros had a majority sufficient to pass or defeat any measure that might appear, whether it originated in the platform, the executive office, the anti's division or their own.

What Mr. Colquitt wanted was for the legislature to pass a deal of legislation that had been recommended by the state convention and agitated popularly through the state. That was the governor's only ambition in connection with the session. Those things he submitted, and most of them went by the board while the members merely wasted time on—did not pass, let it be emphasized—nonessentials. None more than the Galveston News has dwelt on this shortcoming, day after day in the past three weeks. "It matters not at all," says The News now, "to say that the neglected measures are platform demands, for that fact but makes it the more easy for the governor to resuscitate them, and more certain that he will do so."

He will do so, well enough, in July; but that does not relieve The News' latest argument from the suspicion of inconsistency when coupled with its insistence so often that the representatives get down to the big business of the session—such imperative concerns as the maintenance tax amendment in behalf of the institutions of learning, put to sleep until the crowd is called together for deserved steaming out in July and August. Until Terrell relieved his mind at the A. and M. college—Doubtless with the early indifference of the governor to his, an anti's aspirations exaggerating the smart—The News was amongst the foremost in public protest of the course of the session. Granted, then, that the speaker was justified in his premise that the regular session had the right first to attend to the business of its constituencies and to its individuals' pet measures, just what did the session accomplish along this, or any other line, worthy of note when compared with the task it had to do? Does The News approve of the churn operated in the last three days of the session—the churn of "members' business" solely?

Our opinion is Mr. Terrell's ax is very much in view of those who know what went on at Austin since the legislators began to assemble nearly three months ago. Our opinion is that he was not friendly to the administration for much longer than the thirty days last past. And the least commendable of his efforts to blow hot and cold with both pros and anti was his A. and M. college speech which gave Texas, as a state, to understand its most important business must await a special session, or go hang. For he, Terrell, did not agree with the governor that first things should come first.

THE PRESIDENT PROGRESSES.

Before inauguration our president's views, tinged with the exultation of election and the responsibility of taking a nation into their confidence, are frequently a deal more embracing of all mankind than the trend of mind directed by the realization, after inauguration, of the magnitude of the task before them—the personal weight of it. Optimism may remain—must, indeed, remain—but it is an optimism the oath of office has brought within well-defined bounds; if the altruism still is all there, the expression of it is a deal restrained. There may be a glow even in minds sedate enough to direct the nation, and a "deep, calm" succeeds this glow. So with Mr. Wilson's progress toward the press. It will be recalled how, at once after his election, he informed the country that he would listen to advice from every quarter, rather intimating the editorial expressions of newspapers would be a mighty prop in his planning for tenure of the presidency. His invitation surely was not needed, but it was inspiration to redoubled effort on the part of those always busily engaged in guiding the nation through the "free" page, "Advice" became as plentiful as leaves in summer, though much of it was hardly as pleasant. Now the newspapers are making a very funny to-do over the report that a few days ago, when Mr. Wilson called together the newspaper correspondents and asked them to assist him in his tasks of government by giving him correct information of the sentiments of the people, he made a jocularly slighting reference to editorials. At least, it was a reference very different to the spirit of his "request" for counsel through this medium that was exploited proximately post-election. And the comment of Major Hemphill, Washington correspondent for the Philadelphia Ledger, is that it has become quite the habit for men engaged in the public service to discredit the editorials of newspapers; he attributing this to the fact that the newspapers themselves "have discredited the most valuable asset of true journalism." Which is true, important but hardly a new discovery. The able Florida Times-Union is thus inspired by Hemphill's comment:

Major Hemphill overlooks a very interesting feature in connection with the slighting remarks that public men utter about the editorial pages of newspapers—that is the time when they utter them. We never hear of public men making such remarks when he is running for office. He waits until after he is elected. While running he may speak slightly of some individual newspaper, but it is always one that has already come out against him. He doesn't find out that the editorials of newspapers in general are without influence until after the votes are counted, and toward the end of his time he forgets their lack of influence if he desires to be re-elected. The reference to President Wilson furnished a text, but we do not apply this comment to him, because he spoke jocularly. We hear jokes of this kind every day, and no offense is intended or taken. But the candidate for office never disparages a newspaper that isn't fighting him. Newspaper editorial utterances are not always honest, but they are more honest than any other popular discussion. They are the opinions of men who have given much thought to public affairs, and generally from an unselfish standpoint. A strong newspaper generally tries to guide the people in the direction it thinks right. The average politician lets them go as they please, and goes that way himself. The average magazine or illustrated paper has no principles that are not dictated by the circulation department. Of course, there are good and indifferent in all lines, but no class will average higher in honesty of opinion than those who fix the policies of the daily newspapers.

We are disposed to be grateful to Mr. Wilson for a remark that can evoke laudation of our craft of such high order, whether the remark was random, jocular or from the heart. And we may be at fault in considering there was, perhaps, more "heart" in the words than the correspondents, in their broad friendliness, were willing to believe. In his single month in office the president has not been wholly unmolested by the democratic press. We think of the furore that followed his appointing republicans to the interstate commerce commission, the "Ware Bryan" editorials that have greeted him at every turn, and a plethora of comment on his overruling customs and precedents. Not that we would consider the president that sort of opportunist the Times-Union portrays, by any means, but we do consider he has progressed in his capital newspaper experience to a degree where he considers it advantageous to keep a tub of salt as well as a vase of flowers on the table where his secretary lays the daily grist of extra-editorial advice. He may no longer openly court editorial expressions, but we are certain he will profit by the best of these, the honest and the balanced and the "forward-looking."

CLIMATE AND TREES.

Rather scouting the wide-spread theory that the disappearance of trees is responsible for climatic changes in this country, Prof. R. DeC. Ward, writing in Science, comments briefly on the "historical method" as the favorite method of attacking the problem of forest influences. Probably the large majority of those who believe in such influences are affected, he considers, either consciously or unconsciously by the use of historical arguments. It is reported that a certain region was once forested, for example; there are now few or no traces. "People" say the climate there has "changed." Hence the disappearance of the forest must have produced the change in climate. This is not an unfair illustration of the historical argument. Sometimes, of course, simple hearsay and general impressions are replaced by actual records of the change in area covered by trees, and by rainfall observations (extending over a relatively short period) or by rough accounts of the depth of water in river and streams. But, at best, Ward finds this method of treatment is very unreliable. All the elements in the discussion, he says, are uncertain; the early forest conditions; the supposed "change" of climate; the accuracy of any available meteorological observations. Granting that a change of climate has actually taken place, he asks if the so-called "change" is the cause or the effect of the change in forest cover? There is no doubt that the change may have been the result of well-known oscillations of the climatic pendulum, which bring periods of wetter and then of drier years and which are, therefore, more or less favorable to forest growth, so that the climatic conditions ascribed to the disappearance of trees from a region may have been the cause of that disappearance, rather than the result.

Harvard's proposed department of wit and humor will be nothing like Northwestern's department of new jokes. It is to be a department of wit and humor. Dean Briggs, Professor Boland and especially Dr. Barrett Wendell are well qualified to teach in it, but what has become of little Charlie Copeland and his London get-up? It would be necessary for Charlie merely to sit and be looked at.

One long-time admirer of London amounts almost to affection when we realize it is doing its best to rob us of ragtime and the Wild West movies.

Flood reports are subsiding and baseball "dope" spreading. Another month and the fans will be submerged.

Texas Viewpoints

Current Fiction.
Elliot Glynn offers a special recipe for successful short-story writing. Here is an easier one. Mix two parts of slap-dash-bang with two of lack of thought. Juggle and serve hot—Amazillo News.

We know of none whose advice along any line, from short stories to shirt studs, we had rather ignore than the Glynn person. In our youth (the Star-Telegram exchanges is not expected to elaborate) we were precepted not to read any or do any of the things perpetrated and advised by that type of either sex that might be characterized as a Glynn. As a terrible warning we were taught to recite the verses of the Haircutless Hubbard:

The boy stood on the Burning Deck—
He did not feel it burn,
For he had spent Three Weeks with Glynn

On the Banks of Lake Lucerne—which was synonymous, in our impressionable mind, with enduring punishment. So we must refuse Glynn's gush on writing short stories, nor are we enthused for the News' recipe. Enforced acquaintance with short story magazines and the daily story of newspapers hard put to fill space convinces us it is not a reliable or accurate recipe. Most of the short stories that evidently have succeeded are of a much easier and cheerier concoction: one part of slap-dash-bang and a saturated solution of lack of thought. The News man was fortunate in running across an exceptionally good short story, served hot. Those we've been reading were without the possibility of heat—anaemic.

"Respectful, But Hardly Happy."

Tyler is now sporting one of the finest and most modern and best equipped Baptist church buildings in Texas. The Tyler Courier-Times gave a lengthy writeup last week of the descriptions and initial services held in the new building, the cost of which was $50,000. It has twenty separate Sunday school rooms, and the main auditorium has a seating capacity of 1600.—Edgewood Journal.

Congratulations. Nothing is too good for Smith county's most progressive community, not even a fifty-thousand-dollar church edifice, and we regret we overlooked the account the Journal refers to. Withal, we venture that the Courier-Times did not announce its city was "sporting" a fine church. That's a little farther than Editor Green, even, would dare (or want to) go.

Serves Him Right.

We confess we can fake no sympathy for Editor Gooch of the Dallas Times-Herald in the blighting of his truck garden. He was not domesticated. What should he know, therefore, of kitchen gardening? He has shown the home is not his long suit. Recently he permitted himself to be chased from his own premises by a neighbor's pedigreeless pup. He resented our advice on that occasion to buy an opposition dog, somewhat larger, or an aeroplane, and we've neither consolation nor comment to offer on this second betrayal of household inefficiency. But any editor who has not learned from the experts in his own columns and the columns of his farming town exchanges that cabbages must be covered with cotton on cold evenings and peas protected with piles of paper from his yet unattained circulation, and still persists in planting, deserves no commiseration. Now it's Gooch for the market basket and the green grocer on the corner.

Lost the Village Go Stale.

In his speech here Friday night Dr. Williamson said that the Enterprise editor was going to die suddenly Sunday morning, and these few lines are simply to let you know that we are still in the land of the living, with our stinger out and rearing to go. Williamson let the Enterprise off real light in comparison to what he did to us at other points in the county. In the speaking, he had the courage to tell the editor the rest of the speech he had been making. Ask Williamson to tell you what we told him—it won't do to print. We'll bet he don't tell the same tale about this he suddenly became interested as to the care of his fixtures.

We have the pleasure of knowing neither the dominie nor the scribe, but merely as a little sporting flutter we'll take the latter's bet. It is our gleeful hope that some day a man will plunge into print on "The Ecclesiastic and the Editor; Their Relation to the Community, to Each Other and to Eternity."

To be sure, the thesis would give the ecclesiastic the long end of things, especially on the concluding premise, but it would be huge reading especially if written by a man who had been both preacher and paste-potter, or either. These communal passages times in ten they would result in good really do a lot of good. We know. Nine feeling, better understanding and mutual appreciation—with the sentiment a bit more pronounced on the editor's part. We hope Brother Williamson will tell what the editor told, however.

Angelic.

"This man," the Last Bookkeeper said, "has surely been a bird. He met a man whose horse had balked, and didn't say a word."

"And let in his companion there who merely cleared his throat."

And did not josh a man he met with string tied on his coat?

We are such tender-hearted folks it often makes us sad. To think how good we are while others are so bad.
—Dallas News Winkledad.

Obsessed with our own virtue, we are eager to conclude.

That those who hold conflicting views can't possibly be good.

Street Loafers.

(State Press, Galveston News.)

Waco News: Is it of any possible use, gentlemen of Waco's city commission, to request that you follow the example of the Galveston authorities? Tell us, frankly. We have lately suffered for so many simple little things that go to make a clean city, a real and respectable city, and have realized so few. Will you order the police to remove loafers from the public streets? Summer is at hand; the shade of drug store awnings is a pleasant and a vantage point whence to regard the dainty costumes of the vernal season. The disporting of the warm winds of March are so alluring in this street car panorama. The loafers, loiter on their way to and from work and school and the practiced plagues of feminine modesty are daily more in evidence. Their habit does not conduce to the dignified appearance of Waco, City Fathers, really? It does not.

Some newspapers have had a bit of fun with Galveston because of the move on the part of the police department to stop loafing on the sidewalks and ogling of female passers-by. It is not believed, however, that any Texas city is entirely free from this sort of nuisance and it is certain that the Galveston example will be followed in other progressive places. Colonel Harris of the Waco News is already admonishing the police authorities of his town to do likewise. And it is assumed that there is need for some improvement in the city surrounding the tall building or this vicinity would not be made by the very loyal and progressive Viewpoints man.

JANITOR GETS RELEASE.

Was Held Charged With Sending Bombs to Three.
New York, April 4.—John Paul Farrell, the aged janitor who confessed to sending the bomb that killed Mrs. Madeline Herrera and later repudiated the confession, was released today by the coroner after a jury had returned verdicts at a double inquest on the deaths of Mrs. Herrera and Henry Klotz, the bomb maker.

The jury decided that Klotz came to his death by the explosion of a bomb of his own construction and that Mrs. Herrera died from the explosion of a bomb placed in her room by a "person or persons unknown," although police officials testified that Klotz had confessed on his death bed to sending bombs to Mrs. Herrera, as well as to Grace Taylor and Judge Otto Rosalsky.

Storm at Lockhart.

Lockhart, Tex., April 4.—Following a heavy rain and hail storm a storm of rain is prevailing in this section. Cutworms and other insects are playing havoc with corn and many are plowing land over and will plant cotton.

The Water Meter

(Water and Gas Review.)
A well known water works superintendent, in referring to the benefits of the meter system, says:

"The inference to be drawn from the figures just presented is that the amount daily wasted is upon the increase. We do not lack supply at the present time, but it costs good money to pump water that is wasted, and does no one any good. In the natural order of events, the time will come when we shall either have to cry halt, or obtain extended supply. Why not postpone the last named event to an indefinite period by vigorous action in the stopping of leaks?"

"The use of water for all needed purposes is always to be encouraged. It is far better to allow an amount to waste than that any one should be deprived of an amount necessary for any proper use. With this proposition in view, let me present two demonstrated facts."

"1st.—The application of a meter to a dwelling in which unskilled use is made for every conceivable purpose, but which is not intended to be a garden, the condition of fixtures, that no waste may exist, rarely returns a record that will call for the payment of an amount equal to that which the same taker has hitherto paid by the old method. In most cases it is substantially less."

"2nd.—The application of a meter to the supply of a careless taker, who gives little or no concern regarding the condition of the plumbing, generally results in the record of an amount many times that called for by schedule rates. This will continue as long as this taker is allowed his supply by schedule rates. But the minute he commences to pay by the meter record, he suddenly becomes interested as to the care of his fixtures."

THE APRIL TEXAS MAGAZINE.

"The Men of the Hour in Mexico," and "The Fighting in Mexico City," are the leading articles in the Texas Magazine for April. The former is by Sherwin R. Mills, whose articles on Central and South American subjects are well known.

"What Texas Grows," is an article by Lewis N. Hale, well illustrated, and presenting some pertinent facts. Commodore A. V. Wadhams, U. S. N., contributes a timely article, "Why the United States Should Maintain a Large Navy," and Le Roy Hodges takes up foreign banking methods in "The Agricultural Credit Systems of Germany."

Marguerite Routledge has an interesting sketch, "Queer Burial Grounds of San Antonio," and General J. H. Crockett contributes his reminiscences, with "Negro Enlistments in the Confederate Army."

W. R. Boyd, Jr., the secretary of the Texas section of the National Citizens' League, contributes his third article, "The Fundamental Principles of Banking," and E. Johnson is represented by "The Work of the Texas Industrial Congress."

Other articles include "The Twenty-Ninth Biennial State Sangerfest," by Harry T. Wynn, and "Cock Fighting on the Rio Grande," by Lawrence McDermott.

In fiction we find three clever short stories, "A Detective Who Didn't Detect," by Edgar Osborne, "The Cowardice of Jim Leavelle," by S. S. Benson, and "The Shot That Vanished," by Mabel Monroe. In this issue are found the concluding installments of "The Rising of the Lone Star," by Merle Elliott Tracy, and "The Lonely Bandit," by H. H. Benson.

There are poetical contributions from Judd Mortimer Lewis, John P. Spolander and others.

MANY ARE FROM FARM HOMES.

Some Statistics From the Student Body of A. and M. College.

College Station, April 4.—In Texas today there are 298 farmers who are looking to the Agricultural and Mechanical college to educate their sons. Of the 1912 students enrolled at the big state school 298 farm homes are represented. And of the total enrollment one half or to be exact 513 of these students are taking agricultural courses. It looks like the boys who are going to college are pretty much of a farmers' school after all.

According to figures compiled by Registrar Freiley, 163 farmers have sons who are taking engineering courses. Seven civil engineers have sons enrolled in the engineering school while five have sons studying agriculture.

A. and M. is preeminently the "poor man's school." She draws her patronage in the main from the common masses. Only eight capitalists are sending their boys here.

"With more than 300 students drawing from $8 to $20 a month from our student labor fund and living conditions as low as the college benches, it is really no reason why the boys should be kept from attending our school on account of a financial stringency," said President Milner today. "A boy who is not a spendthrift can attend A. and M. college and still have everything that's worth while for not more than $300."

His board, room, laundry, heat, lights, etc., cost him $150 for the nine months. His uniforms, hats, shirts, collars, medical treatment and fees of all kinds bring the total expense to $225. The nine months. That leaves him $75 to spend for incidentals and foolishly."

Supreme Court Refuses to Decide.

Springfield, Ill., April 4.—The supreme court of Illinois today refused to assume the responsibility of giving the final word as to whether the Republican or the Progressive party is the minority party in Illinois. The court declined to hear the motion of progressives for a petition to file mandamus proceedings against the county judge, who had refused to name the Republican or the Progressive party as the minority party in the Danville election commission.

Man Held at Houston.

Houston, Tex., April 4.—L. J. Glenn of Atlanta, Ga., was taken into custody here today on instructions from that place saying he was wanted there to answer a federal charge. Mrs. C. W. Pidcock, said to be the wife of the president of the Georgia Northern railway and also president of the Piedmont Hotel company at Atlanta, is held as a witness. Police here are also advised that a suit for divorce between the Pidcocks is pending in Atlanta.

FULL TEXT OF 8-HOUR LAW

New Measure Passed By the Legislature and Signed By the Governor.

The following is the eight-hour law passed by the Thirty-third legislature, which was signed by the governor March 31.

Be It Enacted by the Legislature of the State of Texas:

Section 1. Eight hours shall constitute a day's work for all laborers, workmen or mechanics now employed or who may hereafter be employed by or on behalf of the state of Texas, or by or on behalf of any county, municipality, or political subdivision of the state, county or municipality in any one calendar day, where such employment, contract or work is for the purpose of constructing, repairing or improving buildings, bridges, highways, streams, levees or other work of a similar character, requiring the service of laborers, workmen or mechanics.

Sec. 2. All contracts hereafter made by or on behalf of the state of Texas, or by or on behalf of any county, municipality, or political subdivision of the state, with any corporation, person, or association of persons, for the performance of any work, shall be deemed and considered as made upon the basis of eight hours constituting a day's work, and shall be unlawful for any corporation, person or association of persons having a contract with the state, or any political subdivision thereof, to require or permit any such laborers, workmen, mechanics or other persons to work more than eight hours per calendar day in doing such work, except in case of emergency, which may arise in times of war, or in cases where it may become necessary to work more than eight hours per calendar day for the protection of property, human life, or the necessity of housing inmates of public institutions in case of fire or destruction by the elements. In such emergencies the laborers, workmen, mechanics or other persons employed and working to exceed eight hours per calendar day shall be paid on the basis of eight hours constituting a day's work; provided that not less than the current rate of per diem wages in the locality where the work is being performed shall be paid to the laborers, workmen, mechanics or other persons so employed by or on behalf of the state of Texas, or for any county, municipality, or other legal or political subdivision of the state.

Marguerite Routledge has an interesting sketch, "Queer Burial Grounds of San Antonio," and General J. H. Crockett contributes his reminiscences, with "Negro Enlistments in the Confederate Army."

W. R. Boyd, Jr., the secretary of the Texas section of the National Citizens' League, contributes his third article, "The Fundamental Principles of Banking," and E. Johnson is represented by "The Work of the Texas Industrial Congress."

Other articles include "The Twenty-Ninth Biennial State Sangerfest," by Harry T. Wynn, and "Cock Fighting on the Rio Grande," by Lawrence McDermott.

In fiction we find three clever short stories, "A Detective Who Didn't Detect," by Edgar Osborne, "The Cowardice of Jim Leavelle," by S. S. Benson, and "The Shot That Vanished," by Mabel Monroe. In this issue are found the concluding installments of "The Rising of the Lone Star," by Merle Elliott Tracy, and "The Lonely Bandit," by H. H. Benson.

There are poetical contributions from Judd Mortimer Lewis, John P. Spolander and others.

MANY ARE FROM FARM HOMES.

Some Statistics From the Student Body of A. and M. College.

College Station, April 4.—In Texas today there are 298 farmers who are looking to the Agricultural and Mechanical college to educate their sons. Of the 1912 students enrolled at the big state school 298 farm homes are represented. And of the total enrollment one half or to be exact 513 of these students are taking agricultural courses. It looks like the boys who are going to college are pretty much of a farmers' school after all.

According to figures compiled by Registrar Freiley, 163 farmers have sons who are taking engineering courses. Seven civil engineers have sons enrolled in the engineering school while five have sons studying agriculture.

A. and M. is preeminently the "poor man's school." She draws her patronage in the main from the common masses. Only eight capitalists are sending their boys here.

"With more than 300 students drawing from $8 to $20 a month from our student labor fund and living conditions as low as the college benches, it is really no reason why the boys should be kept from attending our school on account of a financial stringency," said President Milner today. "A boy who is not a spendthrift can attend A. and M. college and still have everything that's worth while for not more than $300."

His board, room, laundry, heat, lights, etc., cost him $150 for the nine months. His uniforms, hats, shirts, collars, medical treatment and fees of all kinds bring the total expense to $225. The nine months. That leaves him $75 to spend for incidentals and foolishly."

MELANCHOLY WOMEN

Should Profit by Mrs. Hurley's Experience—Her Own Story Here Told.

Eldon, Mo.—"I was troubled with displacement, organic inflammation and female weakness. For two years I could not stand on my feet long at a time and I could not walk two blocks without enduring cutting and drawing pains down my right side which increased once a month. I have been at that time purple in the face and would walk the floor. I could not lie down or sit still sometimes for a day and a night at a time. I was nervous, had very little appetite, no ambition, melancholy, and often felt as though I had not a friend in the world."

"After I had tried most every female remedy first, without success, my mother-in-law advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I did so and gained in strength every day. I have now no trouble in any way and highly prize my medicine. It advertises itself."—Mrs. S. T. HURLEY, Eldon, Missouri.

Remember, the remedy which did this was Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. For sale everywhere.

It has helped thousands of women who have been troubled with displacement, inflammation, ulcers, tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing down feeling, indigestion, and nervous prostration, after all other means have failed. Why don't you try it?

CLAIM CURE FOR NERVOUSNESS

Physical Director Alleges Complaint Is Curse of American People. Exercise Urged.

Washington, April 4.—Nervousness will have ceased in the next generation to be the curse of the American people, in the opinion of Gordon Law, physical director of the local Y. M. C. A., who announced today he had perfected a system of physical culture that would effectually prevent it in growing youths.

He declared he would make his system public within a few days. In general it is calculated to strengthen the spinal vertebrae, the nerves that radiate from the spine and the muscles of the neck.

"If nervousness is to be checked in the coming generation," said Mr. Law, "we must start with the children and that is the reason I have formulated the exercises for use in the Y. M. C. A. boys' department."

Superior Pleads for Brother. Washington, April 4.—Mary Alphonso Lathrop, a Dominican Superior, went to the white house today to ask President Wilson to pardon her brother, Julian Hawthorne, under federal prison sentence of a year for fraud in connection with the sale of mining stock. Mother Lathrop did not see the president, but Secretary Tumulty promised to put the case before him. Hawthorne is eligible for parole.

"Discovery" to Be Investigated. Washington, April 4.—"Gold ore," said to pay from $50 to $100 a ton, "discovered" near Alton, Okla., is said by experts of the geological survey, who made an examination, to actually pay two cents. Secretary Lane today referred the question to Postmaster General Burleson for inquiry as to whether the mails were being used improperly in connection with the "discovery."

Hints on Hair Health

If you use our treatment, we will either stop your hair from falling or pay for the treatment ourselves.

Dandruff is a contagious disease caused by a microbe, which if not removed causes baldness. This microbe often comes from a comb or brush belonging to someone else.

If you are troubled with dandruff, itching scalp, falling hair, or baldness, we believe that Resall "93" Hair Tonic will do more than anything else to remove the dandruff, destroy the germ, make the scalp healthy and stop falling hair, and, if there is any life left in the roots, also promote growth of new hair.

We believe that probably 65 per cent of the cases of baldness can be overcome if people would only use Resall "93" Hair Tonic for a reasonable time, as directed.

We don't want you to take our word for this. We want you to test the merits of Resall "93" Hair Tonic at our risk. If you use it and it does not give satisfaction, just come back to us and tell us, and we will immediately hand back to you the money you paid for it. You promise nothing, sign nothing and your mere word will be taken for it.

We are dependent upon your confidence and patronage, and we could not make these claims, or make this offer if we did not believe that Resall "93" Hair Tonic is the very best hair preparation you can use. Two sizes of bottles, 50c and $1.00.

You can buy Resall "93" Hair Tonic in this community only at our store.

FOUR CONVICTED OF MURDER ARE HANGED IN JAIL

Montgomery, April 4.—Four persons, convicted of murders in Montgomery county, were executed in the county jail early today.

The first was C. Walter Jones, a white man, convicted of the murder of Sloan Rowan, in a railroad train at the terminal station. The trap was sprung under Jones at 6:15 o'clock. His rapid succession, Arnold Gilmer, John Adams and Coleman German gave up their lives for their crimes. When Jones fell, the rope slipped and he was strangled to death. The fall falling to break his neck. His toes touched the cement floor and deputies had to hold up his body. Jones was not pronounced dead until 6:54 o'clock. No untoward circumstances occurred in the execution of Gilmer, Adams and German. The two latter were negroes.

Gilmer murdered Mrs. Lucille Tipton in this city in December, 1911; Adams killed Policeman T. W. Berry three years ago and German was convicted of the murder of a negro woman.

DEFENDS "COLD STORAGE"

Speakers Declare Warehouses Prevent Higher Cost of Living—Farmers' Troubles Told.

Philadelphia, April 4.—"Cold storage warehouses were defended here today at the annual meeting of the American Academy of Political and Social Science, which was called to discuss the cost of living.

F. G. Urner and Frank A. Horne, both of New York, although not on the program, were called to the platform and in vigorous talks defended the practice of keeping commodities in cold storage warehouses. They declared the practice was a benefit to the public, insofar as it protected the people from a shortage of food and from excessive prices.

As an example, both said that by storage of butter and eggs, the people had been supplied during the last winter with those foodstuffs at reasonable prices. The remarks were called forth by a paper read by Mary E. Pennington of Philadelphia, who said an examination of cold storage chickens showed they compared favorably with those freshly killed.

William T. Creamy, manager of the Pennsylvania State Grange, aroused enthusiasm when he said, "We on the farm are in favor of killing chickens and eating them within twenty-four hours."

Mr. Creamy said that one of the high costs that entered into the production of farm food was the scarcity of farm labor. He said farm laborers left the country for the cities, where they were given better pay. Mr. Creamy added that the farmer, as well as the city dweller, felt the high cost of living, and that part of the increased cost of living was due to waste and extravagance.

Mrs. Elmer Black of New York advocated the establishment in every American city of a model municipal market system. "Only by this system," she said, "can public control be had of the sale and the distribution of our food supply."

Local News Notes

Sheffield S. S. Fleming returned last night from Glenville, where he placed three delinquent boys in the reformatory. They were Antonio Herrera, Mexican, from Waco, and Frank Lee Sanders, negro, from Speakeville.

Thirty-five boys, members of the Newsboys' Club, attended the regular weekly meeting of the organization at the Y. M. B. L. last night. Songs were sung, and Miss Nell Whitman told the youngsters an interesting story.

The arrangements committee of the trade trip excursion, planned by the Young Men's Business League, will meet Monday afternoon for the first time. The meeting will be held in the offices of Chairman W. H. Hoffman. At this meeting tentative plans for the trip will be discussed.

The petition for the paving of South Fifth street has been approved by the city attorney and has been referred to Commissioner Gorman. With the completion of North Fifth street paving that thoroughfare has become a speedway, and last night cars and motorcycles made it a race course. One car was wrecked at Vermont street by running into a telegraph pole while trying to avoid a couple of racing cars.

Personal Mention

Paul Heisig of Beaumont, wholesale grocer, was in the city yesterday on a pleasure trip and has apartments at the State House. He was entertained at the Huaco club golf course and last night at dinner.

Miss Lena Riddle, editor of the Texas Bankers Journal, is in the city, a guest at the home of Mrs. M. Gross, Eighteenth and Austin streets.

Mr. and Mrs. Eli Sanger of Dallas were in the city yesterday, coming in their car over the Meridian road route.

Trial Marriage Upheld. New York, April 4.—Trial marriages for young women under 18 years of age are legal in New York, according to a decision by Supreme Court Justice Phelan yesterday. "If she marries with the consent of her parents and leaves her husband before she attains the age of majority, the present law permits her to come into court and obtain a decree of annulment as a matter of course," he declared.

BILL BARS ALIEN OWNERSHIP

Measure Most Seriously Affects Japanese—Decision Reached at Conference.

Austin, April 4.—Governor Colquitt today signed the following bills: Senate bill 179, abolishing the degrees of murder; senate joint resolution 26, submitting a constitutional amendment to increase the compensation of legislators to $1200 for the first year and $5 for the special session. Date next general election; senate joint resolution 4, providing that road and improvement bonds may be issued by a majority vote if the constitutional amendment is adopted; senate bill 222, prohibiting hazing, making it an offense, providing punishment for teachers who allow it; senate joint resolution 12, providing for an election to determine whether or not the initiative and referendum shall be made a part of the state constitution. Date next general election; senate bill 480, appropriating $150,000 for the support and maintenance of the penitentiary system to August 31, 1913; senate bill 248, providing for the purchase of Goliad park at Goliad for a state park.

House bill 24, giving the state superintendent of education authority to make regulations as to the lighting, heating and ventilation of school buildings, hereafter constructed in the state; house concurrent resolution 39, recalling house bill 13, relating to home rule; house bill 154, placing all county officers on more or less of a salary basis, effective December 1, 1914; house bill 461, providing for farmers' county libraries; house bill 629, providing that the powers of sale conferred by deed of trusts and mortgages shall not be executed after the indebtedness is barred by limitation, and that liens created thereby shall cease to exist, the same as to vendors' liens; house bill 635, providing a mechanics' lien for levee workers; house bill 32, changing the law affecting settlement of claims against the state, providing for notice by registered mail; house bill 252, providing first county commissioners may be paid not more than $20 per month for ex-officio duties as road overseers; house bill 230, providing for verified pleading and abolishing general denial; house bill 558, making it a fine of not more than $200 to obstruct or injure a public road or street; house bill 738, providing that in counties of less than 10,000 population no common school districts shall be surveyed whose geographical center is more than four miles from the limits; house bill 552, providing for the continuance of the term of court when the judge dies; house bill 445, authorizing guardians of estates to make mineral leases; house bill 553, indeterminate sentence law; house bill 506, Kerr, Kendall, Edwards and Bandera; house bill 664, authorizing ice companies to sell and refrigerate poultry, vegetables and other perishable food products.

Senate bill 446, prescribing criminal penalties for violations of the fish and oyster protection law; senate bill 321, doing away with the necessity for assignments of error in civil cases and making a motion for a new trial the assignment of error.

GILL ASSIGNS BANK EXAMINERS

Banking Commissioner Makes Announcement at Conference—Cheatham in Waco District.

Austin, Tex., April 4.—J. H. Cheatham today was assigned as bank inspector of the state banking and insurance department for the Waco district. He will be inspector of the state banks in that section for the quarterly meeting of the state bank inspectors several changes in assignments were made as follows:

Amarillo district, W. L. Fall; Dallas district, L. E. Keane; Greenville district, R. E. Cook; Calvert district, J. W. Hayes; Wichita district, J. O. Jackson; Fort Worth district, C. E. McCutchen; Tyler district, W. H. Leftwich; Waco district, J. H. Cheatham; El Paso district, L. E. Davis; Houston district, John S. Wightman; Brownsville district, C. F. Goodenough; Pittsburg district, Paul G. Villaret, Jr.; Beaumont district, E. F. Gossett; Austin district, Louis Cohn; Sherman district, C. S. Holderness; San Antonio district, L. R. Buchanan goes to San Antonio district from Sherman district.

The other examiners retain their present assignments, as above. It will be noticed that during the last quarter the state has been re-districted, making sixteen districts instead of fifteen as heretofore, and an additional examiner assigned to the new district, called the Pittsburg district.

WORKS AGAINST THE SYSTEM

Bill Signed By Governor Practically Prohibits Them.

Austin, Tex., April 4.—The stroke of the pen needed to insure the death of the fees system in this state was contributed yesterday when the governor signed the bill championed by Davis and Reeves in the house and Carter in the senate and advocated by the Stateman. Limiting the amounts which the county and district officers in the various counties may earn.

The law does not technically abolish the fee system, for it was found that such a law would probably be unconstitutional, but it prescribes the amount in fees which the various officers may earn, graded according to the county population and strictly limits the amount of excess fees that can be retained when the work of the office is exceptionally heavy. The bill as finally passed was the result of the labors of a joint subcommittee of the two houses, appointed after full hearings of the merits of the fee system had been held.

COLOQUITT VETOES REPAIR BILL

Governor Would Not Bar County Commissioners From Expenditures Over $3000.

Austin, Tex., April 4.—Governor Colquitt vetoed today the measure providing that county commissioners shall not create an indebtedness of more than $3000 for repair work without the consent of the people.

The governor approves of the intentions of the bill, but in case of damage by fire, storm or other calamity to a jail or court house, which might require an expenditure of over $3000, it would be necessary to call a special election, although the measure is sufficient money in the treasury. In small counties this plan might be feasible, but in counties the size of Dallas, Galveston, Tarrant and others, a special election would cost from $700 to $1500. This would be an unnecessary burden on taxpayers.

LOONEY GIVES VIEWS ON ELECTION

Austin, Tex., April 4.—The attorney general's department today declared that where officers appointed to hold a school trustees election had refused to do so, and even though there was no public interest taken in the matter, that saloons would not have a right to remain open on the election day. Voters who might assemble at the voting place would have the right to choose the election officers and this would thus subject the parties keeping the saloons open to a penalty.

GRAIN COMPANY HEAD ARRESTED

Arthur Richardson Under Indictment for Alleged Obtaining Money By Fraud.

St. Louis, April 4.—A bench warrant was issued today for the arrest of Arthur P. Richardson, head of the Richardson Grain company, who has been indicted on charges of obtaining money under false pretenses.

The grand jury will return indictments Saturday. Circuit Attorney Harvey said this afternoon. He explained the indictments contain six counts charging that Richardson obtained money from exchange firms and banks which he represented to be original and that he did this after he had borrowed money on the original bill.

Various estimates of the amount involved in the alleged fraudulent transactions are made, the figures ranging from $50,000 to $500,000.

Only 14 of Larger Cities Now Lax in Liquor Laws, Claim

New York, April 4.—Only fourteen of the larger cities in the United States are lax in their enforcement of the Sunday liquor laws, so the New York Methodist conference was told by E. C. Iglehart, secretary of the New York City Anti-Saloon league, made this statement after canvassing forty cities.

Dr. Iglehart named some of the twenty-six cities where the state liquor laws are enforced: Boston, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, St. Louis, St. Paul, Pittsburg, Indianapolis, Omaha and Seattle.

WAR ON TURKEY TROT

Gaynor Sends Proposed Bill to Legislature.

New York, April 4.—Mayor Gaynor's war on tea time turkey trotting in Broadway restaurants was taken to Albany today in the form of a bill which the mayor asks the legislature to enact. A second bill bearing the mayor's approval would require all public dance halls to be licensed. At present any hotel with fifty rooms may conduct a dance hall without a license.

Legislators Exposed to Smallpox

Austin, Tex., April 4.—It developed here today that members of the legislature were exposed to smallpox. Representative A. D. Rogers of Decatur, Wise county, was stricken with a virulent case of smallpox immediately upon his return home.

Convict Escapes In Box

Hartford, Conn., April 4.—Curtis Dewey, serving a seven-years term for forgery, made a sensational escape from the state prison at Wethersfield yesterday. He concealed himself in a packing case supposed to contain the produce of the prison shirt factory. The box was taken to the railroad freight car, where Dewey hid it open and escaped. It was not discovered until the van returned to the prison.

Would Transfer Consular Service.

Washington, April 4.—Believing that the consular service belongs to the department of commerce rather than to the state department, Senator Gore is preparing a bill providing for the transfer of this branch of foreign service. The senator believes that all the work done by the consuls relates to commerce. Secretary Redfield was not ready today to express an opinion.

SUFFRAGE CAUSE ABLY PRESENTED

MANY ATTEND THE ADDRESS OF MRS. PHILIP SNOWDEN OF ENGLAND.

SHE IS A STRONG SKEAKER

Goes at Once Into Her Subject and Makes Strong Argument—Dr. Brooks Introduces Her.

Carroll Chapel, at Baylor University was filled last night with an appreciative audience, gathered to hear the lecture by Mrs. Philip Snowden, wife of the labor leader in the British parliament, and the vice president and lecturer of the Woman's Suffrage society in that country.

Mrs. Snowden is a woman of wonderful personality and an excellent speaker. She was introduced by President S. P. Brooks of Baylor University. Dr. Brooks paid high tribute to Mrs. Snowden and to her cause. He said that it is only a matter of time when the people of this country will look upon the present indifference and antipathy towards woman's suffrage as strange.

The English suffragist, striking in appearance, fair to look upon and who has a well modulated voice and articulates clearly, at once launched into her subject, and that was an exposition of what the English women had to contend with. It was in a Baptist church ten years ago when she heard a sermon, which converted her to suffragism. One of the expressions she heard in that church: "It is not the deeds of bad men and women that make the world bad, but the indifference of the good men and women." That was her awakening to the necessity of social reconstruction. Since she became a convert she has made about two hundred speeches a year. She will persistently battle for the cause in England and America until success crowns the movement which women will be the equal of men at the ballot box.

Suffragism in England.

Mrs. Snowden briefly reviewed the history of suffragism in England from 1867, when woman's suffrage came up under the reform bill. The amendment was defeated at the time, but the vote was so large and impressive that it resulted in the organization of five branch societies and of which there are 500 in England today. Again it was in 1884 that suffrage for women came up in the house of commons, when Gladstone was its ruler. At the same time there was up for consideration the enfranchisement of the agricultural laborer, and for this reason woman was dropped.

The Primrose League was the first political league of women. What the conservatives said of the league would not bear repetition in the presence of a respectable company, said the speaker. "Fifty women" was the least of the things said.

Then along in 1903 the militants had their birth. This organization was not as militants are found today. The women then merely went to public meetings and asked questions of the speakers. Mrs. Snowden told the hearers of her sex, that if they do not have that habit over here it would be well to acquire it.

Suffragists Who Suffered.

Going further along she told of some of her experiences. She said, too, has suffered rebuffs at the hands of men in office, and seeking office. The suffragists in those days were strong in that they suffered. The present day militants she pictured as weak, in her opinion, because they resorted to the destruction of property and making of others innocent victims. As soon as there is a united cabinet in the house of commons the English women will get their due, because of the 600 members of the house, 450 have assured the women of support. The work, however, has not stopped there. The town councils and other organizations have been pledged in many instances.

One of the difficulties the English woman is confronting is the many varieties of suffragists in the parliament. As a result the women have been seen-sawing between these kinds of suffragists. She expressed her contempt for the man who broke his promise because some one misbehaved, and she referred more particularly in this instance to the defeat of the conclusion bill, which went down two days after some of the militants had smashed windows in Bond street.

Premier Asquith and Lloyd-George also came in for some bantering at Mrs. Snowden's hands.

The women will come out boldly in England for woman suffrage, not with the firebrand, but with their political influence. The more the laborer has come out in the open and protested against the further enfranchisement of men until the women get recognition.

It Is Long Story.

"It is a long story and an interesting one," Mrs. Snowden said, "for I believe that notwithstanding some differences, the women all over the world are heart and soul interested in the one great question of equal individuality for that, in the time of world's war, that equal franchise stands for what is not only political freedom, but it is mental and moral and if woman is an entity with an individual soul of her own, for which she is to render individual account to her God, then she has the right to say what sort of world she is to live in and what sort of universe her children are to be born into."

This ringing statement was met with much applause after which Mrs. Snowden proceeded to explain some of the misunderstandings which she believes exist as to the difference in the suffrage methods in America and England. She made it clear that the militant is in the minority, and also a source of grief to her more conservative sisters. Mrs. Snowden said she regretted that a few of these misguided ones had resorted to what she called the "weapons of a lost hope," and, having resorted into the methods of semibarbarism, "seeking with stones if not hatchets, to gain what she confidently predicted the American woman was rapidly gaining by dignified and quiet propaganda. She emphasized the fact that these militants were greatly in the minority, about one hundred, she

Public Square Paving Bids

Figures are Submitted for Various Kinds and Ockander Brothers Appear to Be the Lowest. Referred for a Report.

The bids for paving the public square were opened yesterday morning at the city commission and were referred to Commissioner Gorman. This paving contract will be approximately 17,000 square yards of paving, 1600 lineal feet of curbing, and 850 lineal feet of curb and gutter combined. There are four bidders, Ray McDonald, J. A. Gregory, Ockander Bros., and the General Construction Company. The Ockander Bros. bid appears on the map of the figures to be the lowest bid. The following are the bids:

thought, as against 50,000 conservative suffragists, and it indicated to her and to others of the conservative party, that they had lost faith in a cause that was obliged to win in the end, because it was founded on right and the rights of humanity.

Drive To It.

"But," she said with flashing eyes, "if they are insane, as he has been said of their way, and she mentioned some of the 'straws that show which way the wind blows,' notably that women had, for the first time, been appointed on the king's royal commissions, and that each of these appointees are suffragists. One of those, the divorce commission, has upon its list three women, one of whom is Lady Frances Balfour, the daughter of the Duke of Argyll."

Mrs. Snowden told how Lord Mersey, one of the men on the commission, had defended the proposal, which provides that while a man may get a divorce for the slightest stain upon "what he calls his honor," a woman may not secure a divorce for the most flagrant breaches of the marriage law. "That," said Mrs. Snowden, "is one of the 'straws.' Again she scored for the women of England when she stated that women had never in the history of wage-earning for men received the same wages that men did until in the insurance commission, women had been appointed to serve, with exactly the same salary as men. "Another straw," she said.

Orthodoxy Her Doxy.

Mrs. Snowden then proceeded to show why some men do not want the women to have the franchise, because they do not think they will vote intelligently, in other words as they want them to. "Orthodoxy is my doxy," she said, "and men are afraid of us."

One man in England who was talking to her on the subject hesitated upon this score, and she had laughingly reminded him that she no doubt would vote intelligently, according to his views, for he was a conservative and she was a radical. And this she said, is what they are all afraid of. If they are radical, they fear the conservative woman, and if they are conservative, they fear the radical. She believes, however, that this does not apply to American men. In conclusion, she said to the women of Texas: "You are going to get suffrage. I know it. I never prophesy unless I know it will come true. I came here, saw your men and your women. I know you are going to get it, and soon. But," she said, "one word, man said to me, 'I do not see that I need the ballot. I have a good home, a beautiful husband' (she made me quite sick with the way she extolled her husband) 'I have all the money I need; why should I need the ballot?' " "Yes," said Mrs. Snowden, "you have all you need, but what about your sister woman who does not? The men say you shall have the ballot if you want it, and if you do not want it yourself, she does, and she can't have it unless you want it, too, for it must be wanted by a majority. Now, I do not know how it is here in America, the women may all be queens on pedestals, but in other parts of the world women are still behind the veil; they are working by thousands in factories, not on pedestals, but down in basements, and they need that the women who do not need the ballot should want it. Her final plea was that those women who could demand and receive should do so for those who could not, and that a "long pull and a strong pull and a pull all together all around the world, would mean the ultimate success, all around the world, for woman and her individuality."

THE COMING RACE WILL BE A RACE OF CASTES

The aristocracy will be that of brains. This aristocracy will be built up gradually from those families that give proper study to the development of the human species by proper feeding, and the observance of all laws pertaining to body hygiene. Science will make the preparation of food a fine art. We have scientists to prescribe our medicines and to prepare them, substances not used every day. The preparation of foods that we use every day is generally left to the most ignorant. This looks like a paradox. Why not eat and drink for health? The coming race will do this. The mentally and bodily outfit will be segregated. Eugenics, the so-called new science, is now exercising the minds of our thinkers as never before in modern times. The coming race will steer clear of the weakling that must have unnatural drug stimulation as they would from a teper. The caffeine fiend will be known to them by the sign he carries on his face. He or she is about the color of buckskin. The coming race will drink beverages containing fruit juices. All soda fountains carry beverages of this nature. Dr. Pepper is now the best one of this type. Try it. Make your kitchen the most attractive place in the home. Encourage your children in the study of domestic science, in that they may have a place in the new aristocracy of America. Dr. Pepper is prepared with distilled water at all fountains or delivered direct from the factory. Phones 211. Dr. Pepper Co.

Decorations Cause Drowsiness.

Chicago, April 4.—After a patient investigation, Rev. W. T. McElvin has reached the conclusion that the decorations of the First Congregational church at Evanston, and not his sermons, have been responsible for drowsiness of his audiences. For months he strove to stop the nodding of heads, and then he sought the counsel of Miss Stella Skinner, art instructor at Northwestern University, who found the decorations were responsible.

IN COTTON MARKET

EARLY BREAK IS NEARLY COVERED BEFORE THE CLOSE.

Decline of May Causes Rush in Buying By Brokers—Week-end Figures.

New York, April 4.—The cotton market recovered an early break during today's trading and closed steady, with last prices net unchanged to 2 points higher.

The opening was steady at an advance of 2 to 2 1/2 points in sympathy with high Liverpool cables but there was a renewal of yesterday's selling movement in the near months, and prices quickly weakened. As if the same strong interests that have been heavy sellers of May for the past two or three days against purchases of July were selling the near months again this morning, while there also was outright liquidation.

May broke to a net loss of 10 points in consequence and for a moment or two sold even with July. At this decline there was a big demand for May by brokers who sold July against their May purchases and who, moreover, claimed that prevailing differences may be covered by the active market. It could be profitably purchased here against sales of May-June in Liverpool.

This buying steadied the market, and offerings slackened in a way which some said suggested that the weaker May long interest had been pretty well liquidated. Covering of shorts then became active enough to rally prices, although there appeared to be little broadening of outside demand.

Rather more bullish week-end figures than expected, owing to the comparatively large amount of cotton forwarded to mills abroad, rains in the central belt and reports that the flood situation was more serious in the Mississippi valley, no doubt contributed to the recovery, which sent the active months about 1 to 4 points net higher. This close was a point or two off from the best under realizing by early buyers.

New Orleans, April 4.—The cotton market marked time today, both sides being willing to wait for more information regarding crop conditions and river developments before committing themselves further. Crop reports were favorable, but the map reported too much rain in the central belt which made the river situation worse.

The opening was quiet and steady at an advance of 2 to 2 1/2 points. Cables were somewhat better than looked for and this, together with the rains on the map, caused some little buying. Immediately after the call prices were 2 to 4 points up. The demand slackened and prices fell off.

Around the middle of the morning the market was dull and prices went 2 to 3 points under yesterday's close. The forecast of rain for the eastern belt, reports of an improvement in spot demand and rumors of a bull campaign in July options stimulated buying and prices gradually worked up to a level 5 to 7 points over yesterday's final figures. The advance was not well maintained, the market closing steady, 2 points up to 1 point net down.

The week-end statistics were not favorable and they had something to do with the sag toward the close. Mill takings for the week were only 257,000 bales against 306,000 this week last year and 278,000 this week two years ago.

WILL HELP THE ICE BUSINESS SOMERS SYSTEM VALUES STAND

If Katy Gets Side Track, Geyser Company Will Get the Contract.

If the city commission grants the Missouri, Kansas and Texas Railway company the right to lay a side track alongside the Geyser Ice company's plant at Ninth street, thence west to Sixteenth street, it will result in a great increase in the ice business in Waco and will bring many cars of refrigerator freight to this city to be re-loaded.

It requires from four to five tons of ice to supply a car of vegetables. Shipments of vegetables are in trains of from twenty-five to forty cars. The Katy wants a side track long enough to send in full trains of vegetables, and if this facility is granted it will result in a big contract being made with the Geyser company. If such a contract is made it will result in a greater output of ice by the Geyser company, requiring a bigger pay roll and more men to be employed. It will be adding to one of the industries of the city.

Superintendent A. A. Matthews of the Katy, and G. H. Luedde, representing the ice company, were before the commission again yesterday morning on the subject. Mr. Luedde is anxious to get the ice business, as he thinks the Katy is a good customer and is good pay. Superintendent Matthews wants the side track because he wants to handle the re-loading business here at division headquarters. They stressed the importance of the long track for the needed facilities, and urged the commission to give the permission.

It leaked out also that there is a chance that if this added side track facility is provided by the Katy that the San Antonio and Aransas Pass may receive cars here, that road deciding to do its own thing hereafter instead of it being done at the expense of the refrigerator car company.

Commissioner Gorman did not strenuously oppose the side track, but he did not agree exactly with Mr. Matthews as to the manner of making the turn out at several points. Mayor Mackey and others of the commission rather favored allowing the side track, but Commissioner Littlefield had an objection as to the street crossings.

"I don't care how much you use Jackson street," said Mr. Littlefield, "but it is the blocking of cross streets that impels me to hesitate on permission. With such a long side track there will be more or less blocking of the cross streets."

The matter was discussed at length, and went over without action, but the sentiment of the commission appears to be in favor of granting the permission.

TO WIND THE CLOCK TONIGHT

Charles Robinson Will Entertain the Elks Lodge In Annual Service.

For eight years Charles Robinson has annually wound the clock in the Elks hall, which he presented to Waco lodge B. P. O. E. No. 16, and tonight for the ninth time he will repeat this service for the lodge. Nine years ago Mr. Robinson presented the clock lodge with a clock which runs 400 days. Once each year the Elks meet and Mr. Robinson winds the clock in the presence of the assembled brothers. It is a pretty service, and this year as in the past the lodge will be the guests of Mr. Robinson at luncheon following the ceremony.

BIG DEAL ON MARY

NASH ROBINSON & CO TO MOVE STORAGE YARDS TO COTTON BELT TRACKS.

Will Continue the Retail Stores on Austin Street—Means Growth of Business Section.

While the Nash, Robinson & Co. retail stores will be continued on Austin avenue, between Ninth and Tenth, the big lumber yards of the company are to be removed to Mary street, between Sixteenth and Seventeenth, a deal for this property having been announced yesterday.

There are two important items to be considered in this matter. One is that property on Austin avenue is becoming too high priced to be held for storage yards for lumber, and that gradually business interests are to occupy the Austin street frontage as far as Tenth or Eleventh street, following the construction of the Riggins hotel, and another is that the proposed improvements by the railroads, the Katy and the Cotton Belt, in the west yards, which are continually rumored, make that section important for wholesale interests, and induce business people to look for locations along Mary and Jackson street where railroad frontage can be had. There is no doubt that the building of the Bellmead terminals in East Waco will take from this side of the river the shifting and handling of trains. All trains will be made up on the east side, and this will keep so much traffic of a local nature from the two streets on this side, thus making frontage along Mary and Jackson street, facing the river, the city limits advantageous for industries which must have facilities for incoming and outgoing freight. Seeking such a location, Nash, Robinson & Co. have made the purchase. Marshall Nebett & Zizina conducted the negotiation and closed the deal, the property being sold by J. T. Davis to Nash, Robinson & Co. for $25,000. The property fronts 250 feet on Mary, extending from Sixteenth to Seventeenth streets on the Cotton Belt, and there is a frontage on Franklin street at the corner of Sixteenth of 150 feet, making an ideal plot of ground for the purpose for which it has been secured.

NEARLY HALF A MILLION TO PAVE 40 FOOT ROADWAY

Opposition Will Probably Be Withdrawn as to Improvements on Columbus.

The indications are that opposition to the paving and parking of Columbus street will be withdrawn and that work will be contracted for by the commission at the next meeting.

Tom M. Hamilton was before the commission yesterday morning and withdrew his personal protest after learning that the proposal is to park the street seven and a half feet on each side, and make a forty foot roadway. He said he was not authorized to speak for others, but for himself he would not further oppose the proposition.

Col. A. Symes was present with a petition of protest with quite a number of names signed. The mayor called his attention to the fact that many of the names appeared to be signed by the same person, and Col. Symes said that he had been authorized to sign for them, and supposed it would be satisfactory. Mayor Mackey explained to Col. Symes that the city attorney had ruled that all street paving petitions should be signed by the property owners themselves, and that proxy signatures could not be accepted. The matter then drifted into a general discussion of the plans of the city. Commissioner Gorman explained that it is the intention of the city to pave the roadway the width of forty feet, but in a seven and a half foot park on each side, require the waterworks and gas companies to lay new pipes under the park section of the street instead of under the permanent pavement, and that this would not require the expensive lead pipe construction by property owners of service pipes. It was explained also that if the roadway is paved forty feet wide, and the curb reset, it will cost the property owners $2.97 per foot, but that if it is saved for a width of fifty feet, it will cost the property owners $4.17 for each front foot.

Before the discussion had concluded Col. Symes appeared to acquiesce in the paving and parking, although he left the petition of protest that he had filed with the commission.

The bids on the paving have been referred to Commissioner Gorman and a report will be made at a subsequent meeting.

LUEDE WILL GIVE A SEWER

Donates Improvement to the City at Request of Commissioner Littlefield.

G. H. Luedde has agreed to donate to the city a sanitary sewer constructed by him between Fort and Barnard street, between Twentieth and Twenty-first streets.

Mr. Luedde bought up a big lot of the Cohen addition some time ago, including lots fronting on Twentieth street and on Fort street, between Twentieth and Twenty-first. He built a number of bungalows on this property and they have been sold to home owners. At the time of the construction of the homes, Mr. Luedde constructed a sanitary sewer for the service of these homes. It connects with the city sewer on Barnard street. Mr. Luedde offered to sell the sewer to the city at the cost to him for its original construction and let it be taken in as a part of the city system, but Commissioner Littlefield yesterday explained to him that the city has never bought such improvements, but would accept them as donations. Mr. Luedde then said that he would donate the sewer to the city with the understanding the city is to maintain it as a part of the system. This was agreed to and City Attorney Lud T. Williams was instructed to draw up a deed of gift for Mr. Luedde to sign.

DOCTORS DO NOT REPORT

President of Waco Board of Health Comments on the Complaint From Austin.

Dr. W. O. Wilkes, president of the city board of health, said yesterday, regarding the letter that appeared Friday morning in the News from R. B. Babcock, registrar of vital statistics at Austin, that there was without doubt much negligence on the part of local physicians in reporting births.

He stated that only a small percentage of the births in the city are reported. He said that he was glad to see the matter taken up by the Morning News and felt that no action could be too strenuous that would serve to arouse those guilty of this negligence to a realization of the requirements of the law concerning the reporting of all births.

Dr. Wilkes said that not all cases of child birth were attended by physicians, some possibly 30 per cent, being attended by midwives and another 30 per cent being without professional service of any sort. The law requires the reporting of all births by professional attendants and where no professional service is had parents are responsible for this report. He said that to his knowledge, as president of the board of health that not one birth had ever been reported by midwives. Concerning the death report, he is under the impression that this report had been made. A permit for burial has to be secured before interment can be made in any of the local cemeteries. As to the report reaching Austin nineteen days too late for the monthly report, he could offer no explanation.

Attention Bartenders. Local 744 will meet at W. O. W. hall on Franklin street at 2:30 o'clock Sunday, April 6, 1913. S. COLLINS, President. BERT SMITH, Secretary.

WEDS AT COURT HOUSE.

Justice J. J. Padgett Ties Matrimonial Knot.

The services of Justice J. J. Padgett were called upon yesterday afternoon when Ray Garrett and Miss Ethel Wright visited the county clerk's office and after securing a marriage license, signified their desire to have the knot tied as quickly as possible. A messenger was sent for the justice, who performed the ceremony in the presence of the clerks and employees of the county clerk's office. Mr. and Mrs. Garrett will reside near Waco, on rural route No. 3. Haverhill, Mass., now enjoys 80-cent gas.
